

SPECIAL SESSION DRAWS TO CLOSE

FREE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE HAS BEEN IN SESSION AND MANY AGREE.

APPROPRIATION BILL IS SIGNED

With Judiciary Section—Committee
Agree on Other Parts—Perry
Measure Adopted.

Austin, Aug. 15.—The special session is rapidly coming to a close. So will the curtain drop on many of the phases of the legislation enacted at this session, either tomorrow or early Monday. The free conference committee on the more important subjects have been in session and many have agreed. The appropriation bill, with the judiciary section already signed by the governor, the conference committee agreeing favorably on the departmental and educational appropriation section, the eleemosynary section under consideration, and the miscellaneous section will soon be ready to go back to both bodies. The original appropriation bill passed by the house has been out in the neighborhood of $400,000.

The senate has adopted the free conference committee report on the Perry witness fee bill, and the house will consider it tomorrow. All witnesses will be paid one dollar per day for not more than five days in any one case at one term of court, except in cases to determine change of venue or habeas corpus and excepting peace officers from drawing fees.

The free conference committee on penitentiary matters went into session early tonight and expected to reach an agreement on penitentiary legislation. For the purpose of getting a bill, the senate was practically ready to accept the house bill in a great extent.

The bonded warehouse measure received a telling blow this afternoon when the pro forces of the house augmented their strength, although the entire day had been spent in consideration of the bill voted to strike out the enacting clause which carried, 65-55. Certain liquor regulation statutes were put ahead of it and the Allison bill will come up tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

Late this afternoon a resolution from Tarver brought to light an effort to reorganize the house and would provide for a committee on committees. He stated that he had not offered it sooner because he did not want to reflect on Speaker Terrell.

Special Message from Governor.

The governor also sent a special message to the legislature with regard to the penitentiary bonds. In his former message he asked that the legislature provide authority to endorse on $1,500,000 of the bonds the guarantee of the state. In this message he says there have been several offers for the bonds, bidders are making offers on the basis of a ten-year bond and express preference either for registered or serial bonds and he says that after a conference with the attorney general he has deemed it wise to ask the legislature to authorize the issuance and sale of the bonds in serial, registered or serial form. He says that he is glad to be able to report that since Mr. Looney's opinion that the bonds were valid, the state has had many offers.

The contingent expense committee of the senate reported adversely on the proposition of allowing attorneys' fees in the Oliver Wheeler case. A strong fight here at the close of the session to put this measure through the legislature is being made.

On motion of Warren, the senate has set the university income certificate bill for hearing at 10 o'clock tomorrow. A strong fight here at the close of the session to put this measure through the legislature is being made.

Like a bolt from a clear sky came the proposition for a constitutional convention this morning in the house. The resolution proposing such a convention took the entire membership of the house unawares, and seems in no manner to be connected with the insurgent forces. It was signed by Humphreys, Fuller, McDaniel and others.

The reading of the resolution raised the question by the speaker whether this act of the legislature would be legal because of the fact that it was not submitted by the governor for legislation. This question raised the counter question, however, whether any action could be construed as legislative.

GLYNN DECLARES MATTER SETTLED

NO RIGHT TO BARTER AWAY FUNCTIONS WHICH ARE HIS.

IS CHECKMATE TO SULZER

Lieutenant Governor Will Perform All
Duties of Governor—Will Be No
Adjudication.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Martin H. Glynn checkmated tonight the movement of Wm. Sulzer to invoke the arbitration of the courts on the question as to which of the two is present lawful chief executive of the state of New York.

Replying to a formal proposal of an impeached executive to submit the issue to adjudication of an agreed statement of facts, Mr. Glynn tonight declared it was beyond his power to "barter away any of the functions attaching to the office in which I am placed by your impeachment."

"Any attempt on my part to do so," he said, "or to stipulate a method by which it might be done, would properly place me in the position you now occupy—that of being impeached for malfeasance in office."

Mr. Glynn declared further that he proposed to perform every function of the office of governor "except in so far as I am restrained by my illegal action or by physical force."

The announcement of the lieutenant governor's policy came late tonight and followed negotiations between respective counsel for the two men late this afternoon, which it was then supposed had resulted in a virtual agreement to take the case to the court of appeals.

Mr. Glynn's letter, addressed to "The Honorable Wm. Sulzer, and signed as 'Acting Governor,' follows:

"Dear Sir: I have your letter of this date refusing to comply with my demand, this date served upon you, that you surrender to me, your successor, in exercising the functions of the office of governor, the governor's privilege, the executive chamber and the books and papers appertaining to such office of governor. At the end of your letter this refusing, you suggest that steps be taken to secure a decision by some court, as to which one of us is entitled to exercise the duties of office."

"I know of no way by which I could make, or by condition that I could justify me in making any such stipulation. The constitution was designed to, and I am advised, and believe does, specifically and completely cover the functions now existing and is supplemented by statutes passed by the legislature and now in force."

Beyond Power to Do Otherwise.

"It is beyond my power to barter away any of the functions attaching to the office in which I am placed by your impeachment. Any attempt on my part to do so, or to stipulate a method by which it might be done, would properly place me in the position you now occupy, that of being impeached for malfeasance in office. I cannot and will not attempt to do it."

"The entire matter now is in the highest court of the state, the court of appeals. No member of the court of appeals—certainly no member of the lower body, the supreme court, can in any degree or under any circumstances interfere with the jurisdiction of such court save only, as the members of the court of appeals shall exercise their individual votes as such members of the court."

"The constitution has fixed this as the only way for the settlement of the matters now pending. I know of no other and I must therefore decline to enter into any stipulation whatever with you on the subject."

"I hold myself in readiness to perform and shall perform every function of the office of governor except in so far as I am restrained by my illegal action or by physical force."

The letter was delivered to Mr. Sulzer at the executive mansion tonight. The doors of the executive suite at the capitol were securely locked tonight while the guards stood up and down both within and out in the corridor. It was said the guards would continue the vigil throughout the night.

The serious condition of Mrs. Sulzer tonight necessitated the recall of Dr. Robert Abrahamson from New York. This afternoon it was stated that she was "still in a precarious condition," with a temperature of 102 and pulse 118. She is delirious at times.

Is Electrocuted When Automobile Runs Into Post

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 15.—High power wires that fell when an automobile crashed into a pole dropped upon the wreck of the machine today and electrocuted Paul J. Parriett of Jersey City.

With Son-in-Law Woman Is Hidden For Four Months

Los Angeles, Aug. 15.—For four months, during which a nation-wide search for her was made, Mrs. Wm. A. Schrick was sequestered in a cottage a few blocks from her home, guarding the secret marriage of her 14-year-old daughter to a Japanese. This became known today when Mrs. Schrick returned to her husband and other children.

When she heard of the wedding she lacked courage to tell her husband and secluded herself in the residence of her Japanese son-in-law.

Boy Writes Name of Sister in a Car; Wedding Results

Minneapolis, Aug. 15.—As the result of the prank of a boy writing his sister's name on a new car as it left the shops in Pittsburgh a year ago, Ernest Noon of Minneapolis and Miss Margaret M. Barker of Pittsburgh were married last night at the Church of the Assumption in this city. Noon, who is a railway employee here, saw the name written by the young woman's brother, wrote to Miss Barker and a correspondence sprang up between them which ended in the marriage. Miss Barker came to Minneapolis Monday.

Sneezes; Loses His False Teeth and Stops a Fast Train

Camden, N. J., Aug. 15.—The Borden train express on the Pennsylvania railroad waited five minutes at Delamater station last night after Herbert Crockett had leaped from the train and hurried back along the roadbed. Conductor Van Marter, puzzled by the strange flight of his passenger, halted the train and held it until Mac-Croskey returned.

"I'm glad I got 'em," said Mac-Croskey as he pulled himself into the vestibule.

"Got what?" anxiously asked the conductor.

"My teeth," he replied. "I sneezed just before we got to Delamater and they popped right out of my mouth and fell by the track."

With Officers in Next Room Woman Swallows Poison

Croissy, Minn., Aug. 15.—With her two babies in her arms and a towel over her face to protect them from poison she had taken, Mrs. Lela Blair, 28 years old, an exceptionally beautiful woman, died here today just after she had been served with a warrant for her arrest. The warrant, sworn out by Mrs. Wm. Guthrie, wife of a local contractor, accused her of a statutory offense. Guthrie was arrested later.

When a deputy sheriff went to the Blair home today with the warrant, Mrs. Blair asked him to pack a suitcase. Permission given, she went to her bedroom, took her babies in her arms and died. She had drunk four ounces of poison.

Before her marriage in 1904 Mrs. Blair was known as one of Duluth's "handsomest high school girls."

Blacklist All Jap Peddlers of Fruit

Grass Valley, Calif., Aug. 15.—A resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee to co-operate with business men of the city in keeping out Japanese fruit peddlers was adopted last night by the Chamber of Commerce. All citizens will be asked not to patronize Asiatics. The committee will formulate plans to keep the Japanese fruit men out of the city.

Is Studying Wounds in Modern Warfare

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 15.—Dr. Joseph M. Flint, professor of surgery in the Yale medical school, who is making a study of wounds by modern implements of war, is in Athens attending wounded Greek soldiers, returning from the Balkan campaign, according to news received here today.

Professor Flint went abroad early this summer expecting to attend the medical college at London. He was invited to go to Athens to aid in perfecting the general surgical work resulting from the war.

Paris Police Graft.

Paris, Aug. 15.—A police graft scandal, centering about the shopping district of Paris, with innocent shoppers as victims, has been officially acknowledged by the removal of the prefect of the commissary of the fifth arrondissement and the suspension of eight policemen in his district.

The offending policemen were in the habit of arresting innocent persons on charges of shoplifting in order to gain the premiums awarded for such arrests. While conducting their prisoners to the police station the officers would slip some articles belonging to the shop which they were accused of robbing into the victim's pocket. Such evidence was naturally sufficient for conviction despite the shopper's protest of innocence.

No British Duke Left for Miss Edna Goodrich

London, Aug. 15.—Miss Edna Goodrich, who announced in New York on her return from Europe that she would wed a duke—presumably an English duke—is doomed to disappointment.

There are no dukes left for the latest of Nat O. Goodrich's ex-wives. All the dukes are married, aged, or roped.

So if some English duke engaged himself to Miss Goodrich she was doomed.

Of course there are lots and lots of dukes on the continent. But most of them marry Americans because they seek to rehabilitate the fortunes spent on stage favorites or other women of Europe. Sceldom do they wed American women for their beauty. You can't make a hit at Monte Carlo with beauty.

If it is true that Miss Goodrich has become engaged the report that the Nat O. Goodrich Ex-Wives association was about to be organized was probably untrue. It had been understood here that the four Mrs. Goodrichs have been freed were about to join themselves in an organization for the perpetuation of the worship of one of the most marrying Americans.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, arrived in Washington late today with his commission as United States senator to succeed the late Joseph E. Johnston. Mr. Clayton went to his office in the house office building, where he announced that his commission would not be presented to the senate until Monday or Tuesday of next week. He announced that he would be a candidate for senator at the election in 1914, no matter what action the senate might take in the matter of seating him now. Senate leaders today were almost unanimously of the opinion that Governor O'Neil was without authority to name a senator in the absence of the authority of the Alabama legislature and it was freely predicted that Mr. Clayton would not be seated.

Washington, Aug. 15.—That a man who is in love is privileged to lie was ruling handed down yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Guy.

A Man in Love Is Privileged to Lie

New York, Aug. 15.—That a man who is in love is privileged to lie was ruling handed down yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Guy. To quote the justice: "It is also a well known principle that in the state of mental exaltation accompanying courtship, statements made as to mental, moral or financial qualities of the accused may be too closely scrutinized, nor shall they be held to a strict accountability therefore."

In such a state of mental exaltation, Philip Cusick, while courting the woman he afterward married, told her, she avers, that he was earning $29 a week, while as a matter of fact he was a property boy at a theatre with a weekly salary of $13.50. Later when Cusick vanished, Mrs. Cusick applied for divorce, counsel fees and alimony.

Justice Guy's ruling accompanied his refusal of the request for alimony.

Weehawken, N. J., Aug. 15.—Miss Alice Geiser, of Weehawken, is the victim of a peculiar malady which physicians say is without a parallel in medical annals. She cannot keep awake unless she stands up. If she sits or lies down she soon becomes unconscious.

The affliction differs from the sleeping sickness of Africa. Miss Geiser has been troubled with her unusual somnolence for two years, while the course of the African disease is about two weeks.

Although she has been under constant medical treatment for two years, no headway has been made toward a cure. Miss Geiser in all other respects is a normal, healthy young woman.

Girl Is Forced to Stand Up to Sleep

Fort Worth, Aug. 15.—A proposition to furnish machinery and electric power to the city for ten years for pumping its water supply was filed Friday with Waterworks Commissioner Blanke by the Fort Worth Power & Light company.

Under the proposition Commissioner Blanke figures that artesian water can be supplied at less than 7 cents a thousand gallons. This conclusion is based upon the results at the south side plant, where tests by both the waterworks and engineers representing the power and light company show the cost to be 6.64 cents a thousand gallons.

At present the production of water without delivery and overhead charges, is estimated at 18 cents a thousand gallons. The new contract, therefore, would save 11 cents a thousand gallons. Approximately 5,000,000 gallons a day is used, meaning a saving of approximately $50 a day.

The machinery to be installed will cost approximately $30,000.

The proposition has been submitted to City Attorney McCar for legal consideration. If he approves, Commissioner Blanke, who has been thrashing it out for several weeks, will send it to the commission with the recommendation as the best contract the city has ever been able to make.

The formal draft as submitted Friday contains all the points for which he has contended.

Briefly, it leaves the entire control and operation of the water plants with the city; the machinery is to be furnished by the company; the city is to pay the cost of installation, but if not in financial condition to do so, the power and light company will advance the money, to be paid back upon terms to be agreed upon.

The city decides what kind of water is to be pumped and what plants are to be operated.

If the contract is approved and adopted Tuesday requisition will at once be made for the installation of a 2,000,000 gallon pump for the south side and a 3,000,000 gallon pump for the dual system. Other machinery then will be set up as quickly as possible.

WACO BANKS CAN HANDLE THE CROP

GOVERNMENT DEPOSITS GO TO TOWNS OF THE LARGEST POPULATION.

BIG CROP IS NO INFLUENCE

McLennan County Next to Largest
Cotton Producer in the State.
Some Figures Given.

By James Hays Quarles.

For fifty years, more or less, the banks of Waco and McLennan county have been able to handle the cotton movement here without aid from the government under extraordinary extensions of resources, and there is no "squeeze" this year because it has been so well in the census reports of 1910 as did five other cities of the state.

When it was announced from Washington that the government would distribute $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in the South for the handling of the crops, it was but a natural feeling justified at Waco would get a part of this distribution, since Waco is in the heart of the cotton growing section of the state.

But it was announced later that the Texas portion of this money would be deposited in Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Galveston and Houston.

It was then that the Waco Clearing House association, through President S. M. McAshan took the matter up with the treasury department and asked that Waco be included.

Answer From Washington.

The following has been received as an answer to that request: Waco Clearing House Association.

Dear Sirs: Your request that Waco be added to the Texas cities in which the government proposes to deposit certain funds to assist in the crop movement has been received, but the department does not feel justified at the present time in increasing the number of cities beyond the five already selected. The cities of Fort Worth, San Antonio, Dallas, Houston and Galveston, according to the last census, were the five largest cities in Texas and it was thought they were the best entitled to the distribution. No reflection or discrimination is intended against any other cities, but the city having the largest population, as in these cases, were regarded as being entitled to preference.

Respectfully,
JOHN KEITHEN WILLIAMS,
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

This is a very entertaining letter. It shows that instead of the money being deposited by the government for a crop movement it is to be for population; no account is taken by the treasury department in the amount of crop to be moved or the locality in which it is to be moved. Population appears to govern, and he does not follow his own yard stick because he has left El Paso out of it and El Paso has a larger population than Galveston. El Paso is in Texas, and if the five largest cities of the state, according to population are to be designated, then El Paso ought to be designated and not Galveston.

But how should it be considered from a crop standpoint?

According to the reports of the department of agriculture, there were 132,226 bales of cotton ginned in 1912 in McLennan county, Waco being the county seat.

There were 47,395 bales of cotton ginned in Tarrant county, of which Fort Worth is the county seat.

There were 72,215 bales of cotton ginned in El Paso county, of which San Antonio is the county seat.

There is a big cotton acreage in and around Dallas county; Houston and Galveston are cotton markets.

McLennan county stands second in the state of Texas in the production of cotton. The cotton of McLennan county is a cotton producing county.

Now if it was the intention of the treasury department to give financial assistance in moving a crop, Waco would not expect to get a part of the government deposit as there are no prunes in this section.

If it was the intention of the government to assist in moving a live stock crop, Waco could not expect to come before Fort Worth in securing the government deposits because Fort Worth is a live stock market and Waco is not.

But Waco is a cotton market and a big one. Population does not make the size of the crop, else New York would have all the balance of the country's crop.

With all due respect to the population of Fort Worth, there is not a bale of cotton marketed on the streets of that town. A number of years ago Fort Worth merchants tried to induce cotton producers to come there to sell their crop. A buyer was employed and put on the street to offer the top price, and it was advertised that he did not see enough cotton to justify his energy and activity.

MEXICO KNOWS U. S. DESIRES

CONFERENCES BETWEEN LIND AND GAMBOA HAVE BEEN HELD.

EXPECT HUERTA'S STATEMENT

Constitutionalists Will Not Participate in Any Election Controlled by Huerta Administration.

Mexico City, Aug. 15.—President Wilson's message to President Huerta is now in the possession of the government, which may be expected to reject it or to return some answer shortly. Foreign minister Gamboa, in the two conferences he has had with John Lind, came to the conclusion, with the consent of President Huerta, that the simplest way to an end was to accept the document for President Huerta and his cabinet and study it.

It would appear now that as the message has been in the possession of the Huerta government since Thursday night and no action concerning it has yet been announced, the government is not disposed to reject it summarily. It is argued by those who have been watching the efforts of President Wilson to effect a settlement of Mexico's difficulties that the longer Mexico delays her answer, up to a reasonable time, the more reason there is for hoping that President Huerta is disposed to give friendly consideration to the document.

The government remained silent regarding the entire matter, but Mr. Lind this afternoon, with the consent of Senor Gamboa, admitted for the first time to a newspaper newspaper correspondent that he had had conferences with the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, adding that they had been cordial in character.

While neither of the principals will admit the fact, information has been obtained that the object of Mr. Lind's visit to Senor Gamboa late last night was to deliver President Wilson's note. As an indication of the determination of Mr. Lind to so conduct himself that he cannot be criticized for talking too much in unofficial quarters, he today refused to grant an interview to the group of foreign newspaper politicians, including a number of members of the chamber of deputies.

The group belongs to what is known as the reform element and were close supporters of the late President Madero. Mr. Lind told them that until this time he had been in Mexico and did not desire to discuss Mexican politics with other persons than officials.

Washington in Touch.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The Huerta government, through conferences in Mexico City, has been in touch with President Wilson's personal representative, and Foreign Minister Gamboa, now knows the viewpoint of the United States and its desires for only a peaceful and friendly solution of Mexico's troubles. The former communication Mr. Lind bears will not be handed to Mexico before Monday, at least, when it also will be transmitted to diplomatic representatives of foreign powers in Washington.

What the result of publishing these views will be officials here do not venture to predict. They have no assurances that the Huerta government will accept them, but they believe the spirit thus far shown by the Huerta officials justifies a hopeful feeling for the success of Mr. Lind's mission.

Observers of the situation generally look for a pronouncement of some kind from Huerta immediately following the presentation of President Wilson's message through Mr. Lind. It is expected in diplomatic circles that President Huerta will formally announce a call for an early election, even setting the date.

Constitutionalists hitherto have claimed they would not engage in any election in which the Huerta government exercised control over the election machinery. The possibility of an agreement, however, for a non-partisan commission of Mexicans to conduct the election is being discussed and should the situation advance progress to that point, it may be that informal efforts may be made by Mr. Lind to secure participation by the constitutionalists' leaders in such a plan.

Information, however, of only the vaguest character has been forthcoming from officials as to the eventualities that would follow a possible rejection of President Wilson's ideas by the Huerta government. There is no intention at present of lifting the embargo on arms, in fact the president is said to have taken a strong position against it, at least until peaceful means of settlement have been exhausted.

There is a confident and conspicuous feeling of optimism, however, among administration officials that a peaceful settlement is in sight; though they admit the delicacy of the situation forbids any detailed discussion at this time.

Say Fight for Warehouse Bill Has Just Begun

Austin, Aug. 15.—The fight has just begun, reads a statement issued tonight by Messrs. J. S. Williams and Clarence Outley who were the proponents of the bonded warehouse bill which was defeated in the house of representatives today. The statement continues: "We were disappointed to make a study and we made it. We presented suggestions which were put into the forms of law by wise and patriotic lawmakers, but unfortunately factional differences and misunderstandings made legislation at this session impossible. Our only regret is that a great cause has been delayed. By one means or another we shall campaign Texas and inform the people as to the merits of the great reform in full confidence that when the people understand it no public man will oppose it. Today's defeat means only that the farmers of Texas must lose another twenty-five to fifty million dollars in easily preventable waste in cotton marketing. For years they have insisted that cotton should be marketed the gin and sooner or later they will have their way. This reform means the emancipation of cotton farmers from the waste and graft of present methods and it cannot be resisted. For ourselves we have only to say that we have put our hand to the plow and we will not look back."

HIS DOOM OF DEATH

Upon Mr. Bush of Houston by Doctor. Then Vitalitas Took a Hand.

"You want to know the plain truth? Then I'll tell you. You have a bad case of tuberculosis and you will not live two weeks." Such was the statement made by a physician in Houston to Mr. H. C. Bush, one of the Magnolia Park Company's salesmen, whose residence address is 1514 Texas avenue.

"I knew I was going to die and I thanked the doctor for his frankness; it was what I wanted. In my left side was a great knot, which for weeks caused me intense pain. I had the dysentery for months, but it was my kidneys that seemed to be killing me. The doctors said it was tuberculosis that affected my kidneys and also one of my lungs. I have considerable property and I was trying to sell it so as to get away. I wanted to die back with the folks at home. The thought of Vitalitas came to me like a flash. I could hardly drag myself to a drug store. They encouraged me and said Vitalitas would help me. I had little faith in it until the second day, when I began to feel stronger and hungry. For three days my hunger increased and I was forced to eat anything. Then I got started eating, the pain over my kidneys began to leave me, the knot in my side was growing smaller. Day after day I improved, until now I am practically a well man. Vitalitas did it. It saved my life."

Vitalitas is Nature's greatest curative force. It comes out of the earth, is a heavy, dark golden liquid, free of harmful ingredients. It forces away all derangements of stomach, liver, bowels and blood. It infuses new vitality into all weakened tissues. See the Vitalitas display today at Powers-Kelly Drug Co.

At this time of the circumstances on which their hopes are based.

Hulse Family Safe.
Shirley C. Hulse, son-in-law of Lieutenant Governor Reynolds of Pennsylvania, who, with his wife and child, were believed by Senator Penrose to be in imminent danger from revolutionists, are now safe in the city of Chihuahua. This information reached the state department from an American who had just reached the border from Chihuahua.

With the Hulse family were said to be many other Americans, waiting for the opening up of the railroads to leave Chihuahua for the United States. Others concerning whom inquiries have been made by the state department and who have been reported safe are S. Leroy Layton, safe at Tampico; Dr. McAlpine and family, Lawrence Velder, Dr. H. V. Jackson and family, all well in Durango; a man named Von Drandis, ill in Durango, condition improving, and Edgar K. Smoot, well in Mexico City. The revolutionists have served notice to the public not to travel on the railroad between Monterey and Laredo, although trains are reported to have been running there as late as three days ago.

Diaz Hopes for Peace.
Blairitz, France, Aug. 15.—General Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, stated tonight that he did not desire to sit in judgment on the situation existing in his native country, but that he would like to proclaim as his most ardent hope that Mexico soon would find in peace a new era of strength and prosperity.

"Besides, I am not a man of words," said the former Mexican executive. "I always have been and always shall remain a man of action. I have before the choice of administration made by my compatriots and am resolved to maintain the strictest reserve. But if, contrary to my expectations, a conflict should break out between Mexico and a foreign state, I could not remain indifferent."

General Diaz has taken up his residence in a magnificent villa here.

PRAY FOR RAIN IN THREE STATES

GOVERNOR OF KANSAS REFUSES TO ISSUE PROCLAMATION FOR SUPPLICATION.

HEAT CONTINUES UNABATED

No Relief in Sight—Shortage of Water Curtails Output in Zinc Mine.

Kansas City, Aug. 15.—Prayers for rain were asked for in Kansas and Missouri today by citizens and clergymen who believe that spasmodic prayers are not sufficient to end the drought, which has beset the southwest for more than three weeks. In Kansas hundreds of persons wrote to Governor Hodge asking him to issue a proclamation calling for a day of public prayer. The governor declined.

I believe in the efficacy of prayer," said the governor, "but not in the case of flood or drought."

Heat continued unabated today throughout Kansas. There were no precipitations to speak of and tonight the situation is the worst since the dry period began.

In Kansas City today two persons died of heat and a dozen prostrations were reported.

The weather forecaster at Topeka said there was no relief in sight for Kansas, either from the drought or heat. He said the average temperature, day and night, for the last ten days was 90.1 degrees, breaking the previous records of 89.9 recorded for July 16 to 21, 1909.

Reports from various stations indicated that temperatures in Kansas today ranged from 100 to 108 degrees.

Shortage of water in the zinc mines in the Galena, Kansas, district where an excess of water usually is a burden, has greatly curtailed the output of the mines and as a result the prices advanced today from $2 to $3 per ton.

The Delaware river for the first time in twenty-seven years is dry. The Republican river near Sedalia is almost dry. Both fruit and shade trees are affected and unless rain comes soon, horticulturists say many will die.

How to get water for man and beast and how to save little of wrecked crops of corn and other late summer products was an increasingly serious problem in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma today. It was the twelfth day of intense heat. Scattered showers last night were ineffectual.

Cisterns and springs are dry all over the country. Long trains of tank cars supply several Oklahoma and Western Kansas towns with all the water they get.

In a section of Seward county, Kansas, where no rain has fallen in two months, the few flowing wells are surrounded by families who have closed houses and gone to tents near a water source.

From Alma, Kansas, came a report that a woman determined to test the old story of frying an egg in the sun, prepared a fresh laid one in a skillet and tried to fry it on a flag stone with only the sun for heat.

Fire which damaged the home of Dr. Theodore Kroesch at Enterprise, Kansas, was attributed to the sun's rays shining through a lamp chimney without notice.

St. Joseph, Mo., reports that farmers having given up hope of saving corn and have found themselves confronted with the necessity of driving their livestock miles to water. Charlatans around Wichita are digging holes near the roots of fruit and shade trees and carrying water to them regularly as they would do to horses.

Rain in Oklahoma.
Oklahoma City, Aug. 15.—A drought of over a month, during which time the temperature throughout the state hovered at the 100 degree mark, was broken today by scattered rains, which tonight threatened to become general. The fall in temperature is from 10 to 20 degrees. The central and east central part of the state reported rain, while general cloudiness was reported from all of the western half of the state with the exception of the extreme southwestern counties.

which he has rented for a stay of several months.

Battle at Rodriguez.
Eagle Pass, Aug. 15.—A pitched battle between constitutionalists and federalists is in progress at Rodriguez, according to military bulletins received at Piedras Negras. A special ammunition train has been sent from the constitutionalists' headquarters to Hernandez.

Fighting at Rodriguez began after the defeat of the federalists this morning at Abasco, when many prisoners were taken, including three officers who were summarily executed. Later the main federal force, 1,200 strong, arrived from Mexico. The outcome of the later engagement is still unknown.

TELLS OF LOBBY WORK IN HOUSE

GIVES INFORMATION OF NATIONAL ASSOCIATION MANUFACTURERS' METHODS.

SAYS HE WAS ON PAY ROLL

Received $50 a Month From Mulhall. Money Passes Between Mulhall and McDermott.

Washington, Aug. 15.—A story of how lobby work for the National Association of Manufacturers was done from the inside of the house of representatives was related to the investigation committee by J. H. McMichael, chief page of the house. Nattily attired in a summery outfit of blue and white serge, McMichael blew clouds of cigarette smoke in the faces of the members from the witness chair while he testified in vivid and picturesque language.

From the fall of 1909 until January, 1912, McMichael said he was almost constantly on the payroll of Martin M. Mulhall, field agent of the National Association of Manufacturers, at $50 a month, while he was successively democratic chief page of the house, attendant in the house press gallery and elevator conductor in the capitol. He told of introducing Mulhall to Representative James E. McDermott of Illinois, for whom he worked as a kind of secretary, and said that McDermott worked with Mulhall and provided the latter with a room in the basement of the capitol, where McDermott, McMichael and Mulhall conferred.

"Did you ever see any money pass between Mulhall and McDermott?" asked Chairman Garrett.

"I never saw any money actually pass between them," said the witness, leaning back in his chair and pausing to puff at his cigarette, "but I had reason to believe that plenty of it was passing. I got mine open and above board."

"Why did you say you had reason to believe money was passing?"

The witness leaned forward and pounded on the committee table.

"I'm not a fool," he declared vigorously. "When two guys like me and McDermott sit down to a table and the two of us ain't got a penny, and a third guy comes in and we have eats and drinks and get up with the dough, I know that dough don't grow on trees, or on the table."

"How would you or McDermott know about the having money after these conferences?" said Chairman Garrett.

"We'd just smile at each other," he said. "Both of us was careful not to let the other know about how much money we had. If Mulhall gave me two bills I'd hide the larger and flash the smaller one, because every time I flashed anything over $2 he copped half of it."

He said his employment by Mulhall was for the purpose of keeping Mulhall and James A. Emery counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, advised of the status of legislation in the house and in various committees and supplying documents to the National Association of Manufacturers' officials.

Throughout McMichael's testimony, Representative McDermott sat directly opposite the witness, watching him closely and listening attentively.

Goes Over Mulhall Letters.
Tonight McMichael went over in detail the Mulhall letters in which he was mentioned or of which he had any knowledge. He told of advancing $75 to send Mulhall to Chicago in 1912 to collect funds for McDermott's campaign. When McDermott returned to Washington after the campaign, he told McMichael the witness said, that Mulhall "had not collected a nickel," although Mulhall later produced the list showing that he had collected $750 from manufacturers in McDermott's district in addition to two checks for $250 each from Harold McCormick, which Mulhall previously had produced. Attempts by Mulhall to dispose of a collection of affidavits which, McMichael said, showed that Burns detectives had committed perjury in a counterfeiting case, were detailed at length. After Mulhall had left the National Association of Manufacturers, the witness said, these affidavits were offered to the corps of attorneys defending former Senator Lorimer in the senate for the purpose of discrediting the evidence of Burns detectives.

Later, he said, he and Mulhall tried to get McDermott to turn over the affidavits and other documents in Mulhall's possession, including the correspondence recently made public, first to a committee of the house, then to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and next to Clarence Darrow, defending the McNamara brothers in the dynamiting cases on the Pacific coast.

McMichael told of a conference early in 1912 at a saloon near the capitol, when he said he, McDermott and Mulhall drew up a resolution providing for the publication of the Mulhall correspondence and documents. He said that McDermott agreed to see Speaker Clark, Majority Leader Underwood and Republican Leader Mann and if they were favorably inclined, to introduce the resolution in the house.

"Three days later," said the witness, "McDermott told Mulhall that he had seen the leaders and that they advised against the introduction of the resolution. McDermott lied about that. He had not seen the leaders."

"How do you know he lied?" asked Chairman Garrett.

"Why, he'd rather lie than eat," said McMichael.

The chairman had some difficulty in restoring order in the committee room after this outburst.

Night Session.
In a dramatic session, J. H. McMichael, dismissed chief page of the house of representatives, tonight represented to the lobby investigating committee a sweeping charge of corruption against Representative James E. McDermott of Illinois, for years his sponsor. With intense earnestness, McMichael, in picturesque language, corroborated the allegations of M. M. Mulhall against McDermott, and made additional charges, at times shocking the committee and spectators with outbursts of profanity and slang.

The witness declared that for years he had exerted every effort to support McDermott, had loaned him money, had helped him in his campaigns. Now, he said, McDermott had "thrown him down," and he felt he must tell the truth.

In addition to the charges already made, McMichael swore that the Chicago representative told him that he received $7,500 out of a fund of $10,000 raised by the pawnbrokers of Washington to oppose a bill passed in the District of Columbia. In this connection McMichael told of a trip to New York when McDermott conferred with John McDermott, an association of brewers, and with George H. Horning, a local pawnbroker.

Concluding his testimony, McMichael testified that Congressman McDermott, since the Mulhall expose, had endeavored to get him to retract McDermott's alleged part in the transaction.

"I met McDermott in the hall of this office building," said McMichael, his voice unsteady with emotion, "and he said, 'My God, I'm a congressman and you suppose anybody will believe this old guy? I'm a congressman and I've got a wife and children. Say you wrote these letters unbeknownst to me. Even if they prove that you committed perjury, I won't go to jail for you. I'll send you to the factory to work for two years and I'll pay you $100 a month while you are there.'"

"I said to him, 'Yes, you are willing to pay me $100 a month to go to jail for you?'"

"He said, 'I'll send you to the factory to work for two years and I'll pay you $100 a month while you are there.'"

Apparently struggling to control himself, McMichael told the committee of furnishing $75 to take Mulhall to Chicago to aid McDermott in the 1912 campaign.

"Where did you get that money?" asked Representative Garrett.

McMichael said he had just died. "My mother's estate. I had to hustle to put it back. I never got any of it from McDermott."

McMichael told of length of making trips to various pawnbrokers in McDermott's district to secure money either for McDermott or himself.

"McDermott told me," he said, "that the pawnbrokers had raised $10,000 to fight the loan shark bill and later he told me he loaned $7,500 out of it. When I asked him he didn't pay me what he owed me with part of it, he said, 'My God, man, I had to pay it on debts and I still owe $9,000.'"

Representative McDermott, who with his counsel, sat opposite the witness, expressed neither surprise nor indignation at any point in the complicated story.

Dallas to Force Lower Rates for Electric Service
Dallas, Aug. 15.—Broadening the scope of their search, Texas commissioners will look into month-long question of electric light rates. In testimony before the committee of a reasonable minimum rate. This announcement was made Friday morning by Commissioner Henderson, following a short hearing on the minimum rate. The date of the next hearing was postponed until September 16.

"We will look into the whole question of light charges per kilowatt," said Mr. Henderson, "and not merely into the question of the minimum cost."

The present investigation is being made on petition of a number of Dallasites, asking for a minimum rate of 50c instead of $1. as at present. The fact that the commission will go into the entire matter of electric light rates means that the cost of lighting stores, running plants where electricity is used, running electrically propelled elevators, etc., will be entered into. It is regarded as the most important work the city fathers have undertaken in a long time.

DEFENSE BEGINS IN DIGGS CASE

GOVERNMENT RESTS IN ALLEGED VIOLATION OF THE MANN ACT.

RIOT AFTER COURT ADJOURNS

Leaving Federal Building is Besieged by Photographers—Friends Smash Cameras and Fight Ensues.

San Francisco, Aug. 15.—The government rested today in the case of Maury I. Diggs, charged with F. Drew Caminetti, with violation of the Mann act and the defense began its efforts to prove that Diggs and Caminetti did not transport Maria Warrington and Lola Norris from Sacramento to Reno for immoral purposes unlawfully.

After court adjourned Diggs got into fresh trouble. Leaving the federal building by a side entrance to shield his wife, mother, his father and three aunts from public curiosity, he was ambushed by a squad of newspaper photographers. The women tried to run but the photographers kept pace with them, snapping their cameras as they ran. Somebody struck a photographer in the face, bystanders joined in the fight and there was a free-for-all fight at the center of a swirling crowd. Drew Caminetti was swept into the vortex and began to struggle with the rest. A squad of police bundled the whole party of participants into a patrol wagon and took them to the nearest station.

There it developed that one photographer had been hammered on the head with something hard. A reporter said the photographer had been smashed in the face with his own camera. As the upshot of the affair, Diggs was released and a friend of his, a law clerk, was charged with assault and battery.

Far as the opening statement of Attorney Devlin for the defense indicated no attempt will be made to show that the two girls did not accompany the two young married men to Reno, that Diggs did not buy the tickets, that Caminetti did not draw the money or that their relations did not fall within the language of the statute.

"We shall show," said Attorney Devlin to the jury, "that the purpose of this trip was not as stated in the indictment, that it was the intention of the defendants only to leave Sacramento for a short time to avoid imminent notoriety; that it never was their intention to leave the state, but simply to get out of Sacramento; that they missed a train for Los Angeles and took the next one, which went to Reno."

"This crime—if it is a crime—is such only because the incidents are supposed to have happened between two states."

"Two weeks previously Diggs had said he was going to Los Angeles. We will show that Miss Warrington said she was going too, and that he could not leave her in Sacramento."

The two defendants had the moral support of their wives and mothers today, who listened to some unpleasant testimony. While Mrs. Diggs held her pretty little daughter, Evelyn, 4 years old, on her knee, she heard M. H. Diehlbrook testify to the character of her husband as a tenant.

"The janitor of my office building," he testified, "and the policeman on the beat told me that Diggs was a threatening young girl in his office. I cautioned him and told him that I could not have him continue such conduct. The janitor told me the juvenile authorities were after Diggs and I told Diggs so."

The purpose of this testimony was to show that Diggs had cause for alarm and desire to flee.

The last witness was Diggs' father, I. P. Diggs, a contractor and builder of Berkeley. He told a straightforward story of the town talk about his son and the efforts he made to induce him to mend his ways.

"I told him I didn't want the family broken up; that the situation was pretty serious and that I was going to prosecute Caminetti, Miss Warrington, Miss Norris and himself if the thing didn't right away."

The morning session was given over to cross examination of Lola Norris, which left her examination unshaken and the testimony of Nellie Barton, a friend, the government rested.

Miss Barton related her part in the episode, which resulted in the collateral indictment charging Diggs and his attorney, Charles S. Harris of Sacramento, with conspiracy to suborn perjury.

There will be no session of the court in this case tomorrow or Monday. Counsel for the defense announced tonight that Mrs. Diggs and Mrs. Caminetti would take the stand for their husbands and that Diggs would testify in his own behalf. With these three witnesses the defense plans to close its case not later than Wednesday.

100 WITNESSES IN FRANK CASE

Defense Will Introduce New Evidence. Will Run Another Week.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 15.—Attorneys for Leo M. Frank, on trial here for the murder of Mary Phagan, tonight announced that probably 100 more witnesses would be introduced by the defense before the case is closed. This was understood to mean that the trial would extend well into next week.

The chief point of interest today was the admission as evidence of a letter written by Frank to M. Frank, his uncle in New York, on April 26, about the hour when the state charged Frank killed the little factory girl. It contained mention of current events and the statement that "nothing startling" had happened since M. Frank left Atlanta.

Residence Catches Fire.
At 2:30 today the H. C. Crawford residence on Ward street, occupied by J. G. Ottorf and family, became ignited from the kitchen flue and for a time it looked very much like there was going to be a fire.

A large hole burned in the roof around the flue before the fire could be extinguished.

The fire station is on the lot adjoining the Crawford property, but the firemen were at dinner and did not know that there was a fire so close to their station until the fire had been extinguished with buckets of water and fire extinguishers.

The fire was discovered while the family and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Adams, were at dinner. Neighbors joined in the fight on the fire until it was subdued.

Run Over Child.
The 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lefevre narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday evening at 7 o'clock, when he was run over on Franklin street by an automobile, driven by George Price of Valley Mills. The little fellow was going across the street with his mother, when he broke away and ran several steps. The machine struck him, passing over his body. He was unhurt. According to the police, Price put on more power and ran away. He was later arrested by Patrolmen Barnard and Buchanan. He gave bond.

GOLF OUT AT THE HUACO ANITA THIS AFTERNOON

In courtesy to the visiting golfers, the women will receive and drink tea at the Huaco club this afternoon. It is expected that this will attract a large attendance and prove a very enjoyable close to the tournament. The two days contest closes, and it is desired to give the last strokes on the links a rousing cheer. All the members of the club together with the women are to be present to lend enthusiasm, and the social flavor to the visitors from all parts of the state. The hours are between 5 and 7 o'clock. In Dallas more than 200 welcomed the incoming players. Waco must do better than this, for she boasts as her own, the champion player of all Texas.

WACO WOMEN ARE FLYING COTTON PALACE PENNANTS

A card has come from Mrs. Howard Lanham telling of her trip to Weatherford, to Mineral Wells and on to a ranch in Palo Pinto county. Mrs. Lanham adds, "Flying Cotton Palace pennants everywhere we go."

Scarce this read, and a telephone message tells of the arrival in Houston on Friday of a Waco party. In this are Mrs. George W. Jones of Austin avenue, with her daughters, Mrs. J. N. LeMond and Miss Ruabell Jones, also Ross Jones. These went by automobile to Galveston, flying the Cotton Palace colors, and distributing Cotton Palace literature. They stopped at every town on the way.

Think what an advertisement the Cotton Palace is already receiving, and think what the enthusiasm of the Waco women is doing so soon for our November at home in Cotton Palace park.

WEDDING INVITATIONS REACH FRIENDS IN TEXAS

Not only in Waco but throughout the state personal friends of the bridegroom-to-be receive on Friday:

Mr. and Mrs. A. Josey invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter Josephine to

Mr. M. Montefiore Harris on Sunday morning, August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and thirteen at eleven o'clock
1044 Sheridan avenue
Shreveport, Louisiana.

At home
Waco, Texas.

As author of the bright, intelligent editorials of the Waco Morning News, Mr. Harris has been introduced to all Texas through his facile pen. Also, in San Antonio, Austin and other Texas cities, he has a large acquaintance, both personally and professionally. The bride in prospect is a recent graduate of the well known Southern school for girls, the Sophie Newcomb college at New Orleans. She is traveling extensively, and prominent socially in her home town. Within a short time after her arrival in this city she becomes matron of her own home which will be built on Fort avenue.

A SOCIETY STORIETTE TOLD AS NUMBER TWO

Number one as a society storiette was told about two women at the afternoon party where every performer was criticized as well as each performer's selection. And yet this was in the home of a friend, and professedly only friends as guests.

How would it do to have one of these truly true stories every morning, just to let us see ourselves as others see us? Now here is another and it happened last night. And, what is more, it happened every time young folks, and sometimes old, are assembled. The story goes this way: Once upon a time there was a party of young folks. One of the number was a skilled musician, and his instrument was the violin. He responded as a guest should towards dining his part for the pleasure of his hostess and her other guests. He played with his whole soul into his keys and bow. The young people rattled and chattered and laughed and joked the meanwhile. He said nothing. Another guest was present. He was a pianist. He was requested to give some music. And, instead, this is what he did. Albeit he was pleasant and polite, he said: "No, you must excuse me. I have been abroad and paid many hard-earned dollars for my musical ability, and I consider it above making noise for the accompaniment of people who do not care to listen." Good for that man! For those who had treated the violinist so impolitely were rebuked. So ends the story.

But, be it reminded this is only one among the many instances where a company is impolite even to rudeness, and the hurting of a musician's feelings, to say nothing of mortification to a hostess. By and by we will tell another story.

WACO WOMEN ARE TALKING ALONG PUBLIC LINES

Not all the Waco women are talking a Better Baby show, although a goodly number have their thoughts turned in this direction. Some are agitating a more sanitary condition at the railroad stations. Following their determination to place a matron in the stations, to care for the women and girls travelers, some of the prominent women have made a tour of inspection of the station, and they are appalled at some of the conditions. Especially are sanitary arrangements offensive. Again, men are allowed to puff away at their cigars in the women's waiting room, where, perhaps a woman is sick. Tobacco spitting is promiscuous, notwithstanding the sign which calls attention to the ordinance, and the policeman stands watching the performance. It is likely that the first meeting of the Mission Federation, when the matron is appointed, will draft a petition to the railroad officials, urging a more sanitary station, the suppression of smoking where the women sit, and the enforcement of the anti-expectoration ordinance.

forcement of the anti-expectoration ordinance.

Another subject being discussed, and one in which the women are naturally the most interested, is the public market. One woman is watching "every little movement" of the men, and she applauds the idea of Mayor Mackey to continue the square and to erect sheds for one side for the stalls. This woman has visited city markets, and she reports the offensive feature in this congregation on the square easily remedied. This pertains to the standing of the horses all day, and the consequent condition as regards health and sanitation. In Chicago at the famed Haymarket, and presumably, in all city markets, the wagons are brought in, and the horses retained in them. They are driven under protecting sheds, not unloaded, and the purchases made direct from them. In the meantime, the horses are fed and taken to sheds removed for the day. This is the only way, not only of the sanitary conditions, but of the humane act as compared to the standing hitched all day as the horses do now. This is a practical idea for the city commission.

Another subject comes from the East Side. The women are gratified greatly at the improvements to the East Side public schools. They are now discussing a memorial feature in connection, and doubtless steps will be taken towards naming this the J. T. Strain School. Some have suggested that a petition be placed at some convenient stand, and the East Side people, men, women and children, be requested to sign. The petition can then go to the school board, without doubt will formally declare the "J. T. Strain" school. Mr. and the late Mrs. Strain, both now deceased, were teachers on the East Side for the entire history of the public school. No more fitting way of perpetuating this couple and their work for education than the naming of the East Side school for them, where their hearts and their life work was centered, and ceased.

Society Notes.

With the opening of the Public School, Miss Agnes Arbuckle assumes duties as High School librarian. This retains Miss Arbuckle among her home friends for the first time in three winters.

Today friends here note the sailing from Liverpool of the Foscue party who have toured Europe. This means the homecoming of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rowell with the latter's sisters, Misses Henderson of San Antonio, of Dr. and Mrs. Foscue with Miss Foscue who have been abroad more than a year, and of Walter Reese, Junior. There are other members of the party, but not from Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McLendon will begin housekeeping with the opening of the winter season. They have not yet decided upon their location.

Mrs. J. W. Bondurant reports reading the Morning News in Tyler every day. She thus knows every day all which has happened among her old home friends before she takes her afternoon sleigh.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Herrick, and Mrs. F. E. McLarty with Miss Boss Herrick are now on the Atlantic coast for New Orleans and home by rail.

Called to Oklahoma by the death of her brother, Mrs. Gabriel Winter accompanied to Kentucky her mother, Mrs. Cooley, and sister, Miss Nell Wilcox Cooley, who had been with Mrs. Winter here. They are at Mayfield.

We know of one woman who travels hundreds of miles every year just to see if the graves of her loved ones are kept in order. Here in Waco we know women and then more women who will not even travel the few blocks out to Oakwood to remove weeds higher than themselves. Truly there are differences in heart throbs.

The time was when we courted the coat of tan as evidence of our summer trip. The deeper the coat the longer the trip. But now things seem to be changing. We see the advertisements telling in glaring print how to remove the old summer skin. We did not know fashions were to go so far as shifting the skin.

"Get rid of the things that jar" is a maxim for housefurnishing. The maxim is all right, but the trouble is we do not know what jars and what does not. For instance, the woman who clings fondly to the "what not"

and the "chromo," because the great grandmother admired them. But when the jar comes, do not discard until you have consulted with some furniture man. He can perhaps advise something altogether attractive made from your about to be discarded pieces. Notably, the beautiful furniture we are now getting from the abandoned square piano, is a joy to any home.

We must not think that every shower and every surprise is a prank of Cupid; once in a while, some other wily mind takes notion to something. Mrs. Katie Oliphant who has been absent since the close of school, the most of the time in Houston, is now sending cards from Rockport.

Who can do more damage to a flower bed and the city beautiful than one old hen? When this hen is abetted by a few chicks and an enterprising old rooster, there is no estimating the consequence to the afiread city beautiful as well as to one's temper.

If there is anything which does tell the tale of thought for one but self, it is the woman and the man who go downtown for a round of pleasure leaving the horse reined to write in his torture for hours. Just one moment of thought would give relief. The streamers from electrolier to table for a decorated device, are now "showed" with the patron of the party like after the manner of the shower feature in a bride's bouquet. If it is a wedding the shower in the bouquet is reproduced in the bride's table where the cake sits in state.

Speaking of brides it is not many days before the fashion writers will be devoting themselves to new ideas for the bride and her wedding.

If you are a housewife who pays attention to the dress of your servants, it is proper that your cook should wear all white, just as is seen with professional chefs.

Nothing so far said concerning a servants' bureau for Waco. Is there not some woman sufficiently interested to start the movement? Surely there is.

There is a woman in London who devotes her life to the friendless cat. She has had eleven thousand of these put to painless death.

SPECIAL SESSION NEARS CLOSE

lation by general consent, the matter was carried over until Saturday morning.

Much Proselyting.

In the meantime there will be much proselyting among the members of the house to secure friends for the measure. The measure would provide that this special session of the Thirty-third legislature call an election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1914, which election shall determine whether the Thirty-fourth legislature shall call a constitutional convention in 1915. The authors of the resolution deny any idea of making prohibition a constitutional issue.

The house adopted the resolution by Reedy providing for the naming of a committee to investigate the advisability of granting furloughs to residents of the Confederate home and allowing them $12 per month while on such furlough. The committee appointed consists of Morris of Coryell, Long and Reedy.

Final passage was given Morrow's indeterminate and suspended sentence readjustment bill, also Wortham's flag bill. Wortham took the floor on a point of personal privilege and denied that he had any idea of staying off the liquor legislation in getting the bonded warehouse measure set as a special order for today. Following his speech the bonded warehouse measure came up on special order.

It took more than two hours to read the bill and at noon the insurgent caucus showed its hand when McAskill of Bexar county offered an amendment to strike out the enacting clause.

The house finally passed the Penry building and loan association measures, and the tax redemption and the Calvin and Dove warehouse certificate bill, while Breiford's senate bill providing for the appointment of notaries public in special sessions of the legislature went to third reading.

In the Senate.

The Oliver-Wheeler election controversy is not yet settled in the senate. After the body convened this morning the question of payment of the attorneys and per diem of the elected senator arose. Collins submitted a resolution that would have made possible the payment of per diem to Oliver, Breiford offered an amendment to this, however, to include $200 for the payment of the attorneys of each of the contestants and Morrow's amendment would reduce this sum to $100 each.

Watson offered a substitute to allow only Oliver $200 for attorneys' fees and expenses. McGregor said that Wheeler, the contestant, should not be allowed anything. McNealus made a warm speech on the question and the whole matter was finally referred to the contingent expense committee for report to the senate.

The senate then adopted by a vote of 13 to 10 a resolution by Townsend instructing the senate free conference committee to allow Comptroller W. F. Lane an appropriation of $25,000 for liquor law enforcement and the secret service. This eliminates differences between the house and senate in the matter. The fight on the Townsend resolution was along the partisan liquor lines.

Final passage was given Bailey's bill authorizing a board consisting of the governor, attorney general and land commissioner to lease rights on the Guadalupe river in Dewitt county for the purpose of allowing the construction of dams, the Cuero Light & Power company bill passed by the regular session and later found to be without an enacting clause.

Bills Passed.

Besides numerous local bills the senate passed finally the following: Willacy's, creating the county of Lott out of part of Duval.

Willacy's, appropriating $5,000 for additional contingent expenses. Nugent's, prohibiting the creation of unauthorized deficiencies or the diversion of funds by the governing boards of state institutions.

Campbell and McGill's house bill authorizing special tax levies or bond issues for the building, extension or improvement of seawalls or breakwaters.

Henry of Bowie's house bill creating a special court for the 15th district. The house concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to arrange for a Texas exhibit at the San Francisco exposition.

Wortham's house bill forbidding the use of imitations of the Texas state flag as a trade mark, to be effective July 1, 1914.

Wiley's, prohibiting the taking of fish or terrapin by drag seine during the breeding season, and forbidding seining or netting in the coast passes. The senate finally passed the corporation colonization bill of Bailey and Harris with amendments offered by Townsend and Collins respectively, defeated Thursday, to the effect that all timber land shall be alienated in fifteen years instead of twenty-four and that no concern which has violated an existing law which requires alienation within fifteen years shall take the benefit of the present act aimed chiefly at the Houston Oil company. The vote on final passage was 16 to 9.

Very late in the afternoon Watson called up in the senate the civil 2:30 closing bill in an effort to get it passed that the house may act upon it and insure legislation at this session. McNealus at once offered an amendment to provide for 7 o'clock closing but it was rejected by a vote of 21 to 6.

that the treasury department has discriminated against Waco in the disposition of the funds that are to be sent to the south.

As stated in the beginning of this article, Waco banks have been able to handle the cotton crop every year without this government help. The statements made within the last few days show that the Waco banks are in fine condition, and that they can take care of the needs of this community, but if they could get some of this 2 per cent money when Secretary McAdoo is generously distributing, they could be a bit more liberal in their loans and their extensions.

SLAP-BANG!

Mr. Clarence Ousley and Mr. J. Shelby Williams returned from their European junket lately and their report on marketing facilities, warehousing and interesting superior foreign marketing and growing systems generally, has been printed in Texas press. As we remember—and it's merely a matter of figuring—the report used some seven columns of space, which at the rate of $1,200 to be paid by the Agricultural and Mechanical College as the expense of Mr. Ousley's studies, is $171.42 the column. High class, as well as high priced, data and recommendations, however. We doubt if in the countless pages of print on this subject in the federal bureau at Washington, in any of the departments of any of the States, or in any of the archives of any of the larger American universities, is there higher class matter resulting from many similar investigations in the decade past.

This report published, Mr. Colquitt submitted to the special session, with less than a week of adjournment, the tremendous subject of "bonded warehouses." We say "tremendous subject" advisedly. We have read documents thereon from Washington and elsewhere. Less than a month ago, we believe, the people of Texas were asked to consider something like this same proposition, but as a question of local bond-issues voting for warehouses. This proposition to amend the constitution fell by the wayside, as did all the attempts. Well, the governor submitted and the bill was introduced, in re bonded warehouses. We confess we have not read it all. It has 36 sections. Immediately Representative Wortham, of Fort Worth, with characteristically brilliant strategy, put through a motion that the bill be made special order of business for the next day. This action gave a measure "for the Farmer" precedence over the much-announced Allison liquor traffic regulation bill "for the faction." It is the brightest thing that has happened in the special session, whose end is nigh. But it's impossible to keep down a good man, and even more so to keep down a good majority, factional or otherwise. Behold yesterday's dispatches relate that "it is the intention of the pro forces to railroad the bonded warehouse measure in order that they may have liquor legislation introduced. The Allison bill and senatorial redistricting would occupy the remainder of the time, but a number of small measures are destined to come in." The warehouse bill, which is submitted as to subject and introduced as to content in line with the expressed wish of farmers of all the State, could not be displaced by the majority, it is obvious, even for legislation effecting the terms of the Webb-Kenyon act as to interstate shipments into dry territory. The warehouse bill may not be displaced—but, look! how it may be "railroaded."

This legislation was, and is, wanted by Texas. Is it, then, to blame the governor for not submitting it early in the session, or the majority for contriving to hustle it late in the session—or both? There has been no popular commendation of the executive's slap-bang, near-adjournment wholesale submissions. And there should be none.

THE POISON TABLET.

"Coffin-shaped tablets to stop fatal errors," is the sensational heading employed by a wide-awake newspaper man to call attention to an ordinance proposed for passage by the common council of the city of Chicago. This ordinance, after making a distinction between drugs for external and internal use, aims particularly at mercuric chloride, popularly known as "corrosive sublimate," and requires that all tablets sold in Chicago prepared for external use must be of distinct shape, resembling a coffin. Under the present conditions, says the Pharmaceutical Era, one has only to recall the reports of accidental poisoning he has read in the newspapers, for some distinguishing or characteristic method of recognizing the most common poisonous tablets is needed. The differentiation by means of outward form is not a new scheme, for manufacturers have not only adopted special forms or shapes, but they have made use of colors and imprint devices to distinguish such tablets, each following a system of his own devising and none of the systems uniform in their application and requirements.

We believe that the solution of the problem consists in the incorporation in the United States pharmacopoeia and the national formulary, our two legal standards, of specific definitions for shape and size of poisonous tablets. Such a plan will apply alike to all manufacturers and obviate the confusion that is bound to continue, so long as any distinguishing feature or form may be used, or not, as each individual may elect. A uniform plan of indicating such tablets will also serve to educate everyone and call attention to the toxicity of what otherwise would appear to be a simple and inoffensive form of medication.

IN AID OF SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

Foreign merchants contemplating the purchase of American goods always want to know the cost of the article delivered, and the inability or unwillingness of American exporters to quote c. l. f. prices has lost them many orders. To assist exporters in ascertaining delivery charges, the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce has published a bulletin compiled by Commercial Agent F. J. Sheridan, dealing with transportation rates to the west coast of South America, this section of the foreign field being selected because of the trade activity that is expected to follow the opening of the Panama canal.

The main part of the bulletin is a series of tables giving the freight rates on over 800 articles from inland points in the United States to inland points in Ecuador, Peru and Chile. Freight rates per 100 pounds, in carload and less than carload lots, are given to New York from Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Boston, Providence and Hartford; ocean freight rates per 100 pounds and per cubic foot from New York to Guayaquil, Callao, Mollendo, Antofagasta and Valparaiso, via the Straits of Magellan and via Panama; and freight rates per 100 pounds from Guayaquil to Quito, Callao to Lima, Mollendo to Arequipa, and Valparaiso to Santiago. Lighterage, transfer and other charges at the port of New York and at South American ports are shown, together with the cost of marine insurance, and data are also given as to consular fees and regulations and steamship requirements. Comparative tables give the competitive rates from European ports and from New York to South America.

In addition to these features, statistics are furnished to show the character of the goods sold by the United States to Ecuador, Chile, Peru and Bolivia, and for each of these countries general information is given as to area, population, language, currency, postage rates, foreign trade and distance from New York. Tables of price comparisons give the equivalents in the currency and measures of these countries of prices stated in the money and measures of the United States.

AMERICA'S MUSIC BILL.

After over two score years' close acquaintance with music in America as editor of musical papers and through careful computation with the assistance of the census bureau in Washington, John C. Freund indicates the tremendous musical uplift of the time in figures that may well astonish, inasmuch as they are based upon fact. He concludes that annually there are spent on all forms of music in the United States, exclusive of the so-called musical comedies, an extraordinary figure that aggregates nearly $600,000,000. He itemizes the account in a general way as follows:

Grand opera, $8,000,000.
 Concerts of all kinds, including recitals by artists and symphonious orchestras and individuals, aggregate $30,000,000.
 Church music, over $50,000,000, that is, for organists, choir and the music they use.
 About $30,000,000 for orchestras that play in theatres, in vaudeville and in moving picture shows.
 Fully $35,000,000 for the military and brass bands, and upwards of $175,000,000 for conservatories, schools and private teachers.

The musical industries according to his well arranged tabulation figure up over $230,000,000; of which the piano account is $135,000,000; church organ account, $10,000,000; sheet music, book scores, $10,500,000; talking machines and music records, $65,000,000; while the musical magazines, weeklies, trade papers and others account for $3,500,000 more.

Editor Freund remarks as the interesting feature of the figures that while a large amount was spent for operas and concerts, it is comparatively insignificant in contrast to what is spent for tuition, pianos and talking machines; virtually all in form of music for the home. In the United States we spend three times as much for music as we do for our entire army and navy. In Germany, which is considered the most musical nation, they spend ten times as much on the army and navy as we do on music.

Mr. Freund, who is likewise the editor of Musical America, contrasts the current condition of musical industries in this country of today with half a century back, when we were absolutely dependent on foreign sources for our music and our instruments. There are now registered about 250,000 music teachers in the United States. An indication of the vast increase in musical interest as a feature of home and artistic life is currently indexed in the columns of the daily press.

The governor's original $5,000 for "restoring" the Alamo is now all on the wings of the wind. The house has promised the D's of the R. $5,000 to take over and treat the property and the senate wants to give Mr. Colquitt a like amount to continue in his plan of "restoration." Puzzle for the bright minds of the first grade: For how many years more will the place abutting the sacred chapel be an eyesore to San Antonio by reason of the misoperation of law and the misapplication of personal pique and ambish?

We will be glad to have the views of the Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, who said Thursday that "to sacrifice the life of one soldier for all the dollars which investors and speculators have ventured in Mexico would be the supremest folly," concerning the responsibility of the United States for the killing and mistreatment of Americans in the course of Mexican thugdom. The question is, what is the business of investors and speculators?

Because the warehouse bill is "for the farmers," the majority of the legislature did not dare dispute its precedence over Mr. Allison's Liquor Law No. X. But let the farmer observe the sort of enactment that is served up to him by reason of the railroad traffic regulations may have one day of the pitifully few remaining in this session.

The split trouser has appeared in Newport—no, not R. L. Ky. If two certain gentlemen of our craft in Texas have the least desire to ape this outrage we will apply for a writ in every extraordinary remedy from prohibition down to the riot act. Lochridge is too tall and fat and Quarles too small and skinny.

Congress Democrats add all winter to all summer when it comes to line fighting for the party program. Go to it! Full twenty years the now benighted minority was a loafing, lazy majority that worked only when excuses to languish failed.

Even if W. Wilson would approve of Senator Manuel Calero as president of Mexico, if H. L. Wilson approves of him we must positively refuse to go down into Monterey on election day and buy votes for Mannie.

We have a chrome of the dignified and reticent Ambassador Page apologizing to Sir Edward Grey for the assassin of the desperate and reneging Ambassador Wilson.

The 711th reason why the s. of m. should not be proud is that it is shown in a dispatch from Indianapolis that a woman can drop dead when her poodle is murdered.

There is general sympathy for Kansas and Oklahoma's lack of water where lately there was only general condemnation for their illicit plenty of other liquids.

Tam-ma-ny, Tam-ma-nee. Murphy has that man, Lev-y, running things in Albany. Tam-ma-ny, Tam-ma-nee—Bill took check, just see his neck! Tam-ma-nee.

City constabulary everywhere may now receive new shoes by parcel post. That weight increase from 11 to 20 pounds is fine business.

We consider the "reprimand" to Henry Lane Wilson a rank failure. It should have been pedal, not verbal.

Poor old "Empire" State! Think of kicking Sulzer out only to put Martin Glavin!

A New Britain, Conn. factory manager is asking the female employees "to appear for work in business-like and modest clothes," taboing the slit, hobble and diaphanous skirts. That such a ban might be expected in the bluest of blue-law States does not detract from the commendation due the attitude of this manager.

BY HIS OWN EFFORTS.

(Jeff. McLemore, in State Topics.)
 The Waco News makes pleasant mention of one whose newspaper career we have ever watched with increasing interest. The News says: "Win. M. Thornton, who for many years has reported the legislative proceedings for the Dallas News, is now writing the heavy 'stuff' for the News in the capacity as staff correspondent. This place has heretofore been filled by Tom Finty Jr., probably the most capable staff correspondent in Texas, and it was under Finty's supervision that he worked up to his present responsible position. Thornton is proving a most capable writer and bids fair to soon become one of the most popular staff correspondents in the state." Will Thornton no doubt learned something of newspaper work by reading after Mr. Finty, but he owes his success in the newspaper world principally to his own efforts. His father, the late Major John E. Thornton, was for twenty-five years or longer the staff correspondent of the News at Austin, and during the life of Col. A. H. Belcher, News shaped its editorial policy from the splendid staff letters of Major Thornton. No Austin newspaper correspondent, before or since, ever knew so much about the different state departments as Major Thornton, nor could one write of them so intelligently, taking the departments in their varied and minute details. As an interviewer of public men, it is doubtful if Major Thornton ever had his equal, and it was often said of him that each half of his heavy mustache was an "interrogation point." While a mere boy, and as soon as he was able to understand, Will accompanied his father on his daily rounds of the departments and often assisted him by doing a lot of the routine work. When Major Thornton died (in 1895, we believe it was), young Thornton, still a mere youth, succeeded his father as the Austin correspondent of the News, his appointment being made by the late Col. Robert G. Lowe, manager of the News, and it was up to the same day, it was always told a keen interest in the son of his old friend and co-worker on the News. It is unnecessary to state that the young man, thrown suddenly on his own responsibilities as the Capital City correspondent of a great newspaper, found himself up against a difficult proposition, for he had old and experienced newspaper men to work against. But the youth had the nerve of his father, he inherited his father's news-gathering propensities and he "scopped" his competitors as often as he got "scopped" by them. We believe it was his hand at "staff articles," but they appeared in the News as "Specials" and it was only in recent years, or it might be months, that his name began to appear in the News along with his father's. We believe it was in the least to detract from Mr. Finty, who is recognized as one of the south's greatest staff correspondents, but we believe Mr. Finty himself will agree with us when we say that Will M. Thornton owes his success in the newspaper world to his own efforts. He has always adhered strictly to the lessons taught him by his father and by Col. Lowe, and which were, in effect, to be loyal and truthful, to treat all subjects fairly and with due consideration and not to let himself be "worked" by designing politicians or to fall for the sensational. The death of his father left to him the care of his mother and younger brothers and sisters and the manner in which he has performed his duty toward them is an example to all that will always stand out in glowing colors.

(The leading quotation above is from the West News, not the Waco Morning News. We reprinted the West News' comment on our issue of the 11th, and said like tribute with Mr. McLemore's to the character and ability of Mr. Thornton—well knowing he "owes his success in the newspaper world principally to his own efforts."—The Editors.)

That "Unconstitutional" Merger.
 (Benton Record and Chronicle.)
 If the Katy consolidation was unconstitutional last spring—and both the governor and attorney general assured us it was—we fail to comprehend a legitimate consolidation of railroads, the constitutional defect and make the merger legal and right. If that position is correct, the legislature certainly did all within its power to do when it passed and then over the governor's veto, the consolidation of railroads, the Katy to consolidate its lines. We confess our own belief that Col. James Hays Quarles is getting right down close to the truth when he says:

"The truth of the matter is that the further into the Katy suit the attorney general and his assistant inquired, the further away from success they found themselves. The Katy has not in any way opposed this suit. It has not filed an answer nor has it recognized the litigation. It has only employed an attorney of record. It is true that the general attorney of the company, Mr. Alexander Coke, has been present at the taking of testimony by a commissioner, but it is expressly stated in the record that he was only for the purpose of a railroad that is under lease by the Katy, which lease contract has been approved by the railroad commission."

And if that is correct, what has Texas gained except a heavy and useless expense in making a case of testimony? And how has the public, which foots the bills, profited in any direction? General Manager Webb is quoted as saying that the Katy has been anxious to make certain extensions, presumably one of these is its own coveted east line—and that these extensions, designed to increase the public's convenience, have been held up pending some final adjustment of the state's suit, which asked, we recall, the strict regulation of railroads, or thereabout, but ouster from the state and forfeiture of its charter. The state recently accepted a half million dollars from the Standard Oil company in compromise of a $115,000,000 suit against a dozen or fifteen companies, the other defendants in the compromise being declared perfectly innocent. And now it proposes to dismiss a suit of $105,000,000 against a railroad company in consideration of a few concessions and the construction of a few extensions which the company says, had already been determined on and were only delayed by the filing of the suit. We have no patience with the spirit which puts the dollar above the man, and we believe no compromise of any sort should be made, no compromise of any sort should have been accepted. If the Katy is deserving of forfeiture, ouster and penalties from its infractions of the law, those penalties should be exacted. But if they were not guilty, the suits should never have been instituted and it will not make people forget now to get the legislature to provide a loop-hole for the governor and attorney general to slide out of responsibility for filing the suit. In the meantime, if it wasn't constitutional last March, how can it be so now, particularly when all amendments to the constitution were defeated in July?

Waco's "Humanitarian."
 (Fort Worth Record.)
 "Every dog has his day," it is said. In addition to this, every Waco dog is to be given a chance at the public fountain. The record of Thursday contained the following telegram:

Waco, Aug. 13.—Eight drinking fountains will at once be placed on prominent corners of the business section. No cups will be used. The fountains are the most modern that could be found. Mayor James H. Mackey says he is in hearty accord with the editorial in today's Record, and that he proposes to see that both men and dogs have all the good, pure water to drink they want.
 Mayor Mackey is to be commended. He is a humanitarian. He isn't afraid of mad dogs. He believes in public fountains, and he is determined that man, beast and bird in the city of Waco shall be given plenty of pure, cold, life-giving water. Give a dog a chance. He will pay you back in the coin of loyal friendship and a fidelity that cannot be questioned.

At the Solons.
 (State Press, Galveston News.)
 Waco Morning News: The unusual in yesterday's news: German aviators encounter a shower on meteors. An eagle carries off a Swiss baby. A lady in Nebraska inherits $1,750,000. The lower branch of the Texas legislature passes a bill.

That's right; shoot it into the poor, downtrodden legislature. Why, only a few months ago Macgillivuddy Harris would have shot a bill at the rate of one a minute. Now that they are deliberating he is yet unpleased and unappeased. Let him be patient. Since Mulhall has lost front page position, and that Mexico and "hotel politicians" are about to go the same way, it may be depended upon that the legislature will come to the rescue with the hot stuff. But all the editors are not unappreciative of the up-against-it-ness of the legislature. Williams of the Omaha Bee shows that the problems which it has tackled and can't get away from. He says:

Should the United States intervene in Mexico and capture the country and all those treated grocers down there wouldn't she have a job on her hands? It would be almost as big a question as the Texas penitentiaries.

There is No Forgiveness.
 (Fort Worth Record.)
 To err usually is human—but the errors that set at naught the fine work of young Mr. Hill and gave yesterday's game to San Antonio seemed little short of inhuman.—Waco Morning News.

It is human to err and divine to forgive, the Bible teaches; but this refers to the ordinary run of life. In the world of sport to commit errors on the baseball diamond is one of the errors for which there is no forgiveness.

Waco and the Morning News

Oh Grief!
 If Mr. Bryan has any more "close friends" for whom he desires federal jobs in Texas, he will kindly trot 'em out now so that we can see if there will be any places left for those who worked the hardest to elect him. The nomination of Mr. Wilson?—Waco News.

What's the matter with the Hon. James Clayton McNealas? Has he not been playing "Famen to Mr. Bryan's Famen" for some time? It is possible that loyalty as well as a virtue shall be denied its just reward in this age of progressivism? Oh! tempora, oh! mores, oh! the immortal forty.—Denison Herald.

These Jellyfish Generals.
 It appears the "generals" of both sides in the Mexican mess will come out of it much richer than they went in, if they come out at all—but that, we believe, is neither surprising nor novel.—Waco News.

That may be true, provided these "generals" choose their own time of coming out of the Mexican "mess." The disadvantage under which they are working here is in the fact that some of them may be compelled to take a French leave before they get their share of the spoils. And when it comes to a hasty exit, a losing member of the "manana" tribe is in class A.—San Benito Light.

Brady—Brownwood Cruelty.
 "A car load of empty beer bottles was shipped from Fairfarms one day this week, a thing we would call 'going for a drive' in a 'dry town,' denounces Fairfarms. Fairfarms, coincidentally, is a hard-hitting Harry of Schwenker, in Brady Standard, repartees at the expense of Brownwood's importation of casks and kegs of St. Louis and Texas brew. Who has not learned that when a Texas town goes dry it becomes 'deaf'?" Heaven protect the noble Allison and hasten the day when Messrs. Webb and Kenyon's work will be made manifest in this saintly-thirsty state.—Waco News.

Honest to goodness, now, we admit the charge of undue cruelty toward Brownwood. After one look at the tadpoled, microbed, unfiltered bayou water of Brownwood, any one is justified in the opinion that water is scarcely fit to wash in, much less to use as a thirst-dispenser.—Brady Standard.

Recipe for a Poet Laureate.
 There is reason to hope that the country will eventually survive the appointment of Robert Bridges as poet laureate of England. Apparently, one approves the appointment with more enthusiasm than the appointment of Alfred Austin was received and we have only to remember that in laboring manner the country managed to survive with Austin as poet laureate of England.—Waco Morning News.

In these prosaic days, England appears best suited with a poet laureate capable of doing everything but writing poetry, and Robert Bridges ought to make a most satisfactory successor to Alfred Austin, whose amalgamated tenure of office produced never a poem worthy the name. With such a chap as Kipling to throw pepper into dog-eared, the throne might find itself frequently embarrassed, for Kipling has a mind of his own and a sufficiency of expression which often struts his countrymen into real live gods of thought. Another thing that wholly unfits Kipling for the job is that Kipling writes poetry.—Corpus Christi Caller.

Tom Mann, Famous English Labor Leader Reaches United States

Tom Mann, famous British labor leader, who has been one of the important labor leaders of Great Britain for a generation, has come to the United States to stir interest in British labor conditions here.
 He believes in militancy, both for women and men. He has been often in jail for his utterances, but England has found him irrepressible. At the same time England has respected him for his recognized honesty and sincerity.
 "Syndicalism is a word not to be afraid of," said Mann, to make plain the purpose of his trip. "I understand that the term has not yet been clearly defined in the public mind over here, and that perhaps the greater part of your people do not feel certain whether it relates to finance, theology or politics."

Married Men and Crime.

(Los Angeles Examiner.)
 Interesting as they are, it did not require the recently published statistics to convince the world that married men are not as criminal as unmarried men. Men usually go to jail only when there is no other place to go. And the married man can always go home.

Furthermore, the thought of a wife and children is a strong incentive to a life safely within the law. Read attentively the tragic stories of men gone wrong and you will find that their first thought is for their wives and children, if they are married, and in most cases when palpably guilty men are acquitted it is the wife-and-children plea that saves them. Even to the juryman the idea that a married man should be a criminal is repugnant.

Crime is sometimes adventure gone wrong. And always the adventurer travels the fastest who travels alone. Give a man a weak conscience and a covetous spirit and put him in the world unfriended and alone and nine times out of ten he will turn out a criminal. And a wife and a number of children, and his natural desire to show what he can do as the head of the family will keep him straight. Even if there are no children, the knowledge that some one is dependent upon him is likely to nip in the bud that impulse to borrow a couple of hundred out of the till this week or to redress some grievance with a .44.

A Change in Bryan.

(Manchester Union.)

The more thoroughly one recognizes and appreciates the intrinsic excellence of Secretary Bryan's proposition concerning Nicaragua, the more one sees in it a suggestion of the change which has come over the distinguished Nebraskan. A comparison between the attitude enunciated in his Nicaraguan policy and the attitude so stoutly maintained by Mr. Bryan a few years ago is interesting. Then he was anti-imperialist and all that the term implied. Now he unhesitatingly fathers and advocates a policy that is worthy of a born-and-bred imperialist. Possibly Mr. Bryan would explain that his change of mind in this respect consists entirely in his change from private to official life. Official opinions have been known to differ from personal opinions, in one and the same individuals. Mr. Bryan, however, has never been accused of an inordinate propensity for subordinating his personal ideals to official policy. To do him justice, he has made no pretense of such a propensity and shows no symptoms of beginning now—unless, indeed, by a stupendous stretch of the imagination his Nicaraguan policy may be interpreted. It is easier and pleasanter to assume the Secretary Bryan, like Thomas Jefferson and others of his illustrious predecessors, has been too busy with contemporaneous needs to bother himself about opinions he may have held in the past.

MEXICO TO BUY AIRSHIPS

Asserting that the most powerful modern warship is wholly at the mercy of a bomb-throwing aviator and that within the next five years flying machines will be as commonly used as automobiles are today, Mayor Miguel Lebruna, chief of the army aviation corps in Mexico City, said that he was on his way to Europe to purchase for the Mexican government twenty flying machines at a cost of $400,000 and two dirigibles at a cost of approximately $200,000.

A BIG GAME HUNT.

Man Who Didn't Fear Thunder and Lightning Killed the Bear.

(Chicago News.)

"I just got back from the big game hunt yesterday," said the young sportsman. "There were six of us in the party and we had a lot of fun."

"Did you bring back any trophies?" asked a fellow boarder.

"Well, no, but we had plenty of sport. Two of us who had never killed mountain lion and bear learned exactly how to do it from the four old sportsmen on the train going up. 'The way I do,' said one of the old hands, 'is to shoot the bear under the fourth rib, and I always like to get my mountain lion with a bullet just over the left eye.'"

"I don't," said another big game expert, "I shoot them in the neck."

"I like hand-to-hand encounters," said a third expert. "Especially when it comes to bear. Let Mr. Bear start hugging me and he gets my hunting knife right in the heart!"

"The first night after we got to camping one of the old hunters came in and told how he had killed a bear with his hunting knife after a desperate struggle, but the bear had fallen into a chasm where the hunter couldn't get him."

"Another came in and said he had killed the biggest mountain lion he ever saw, but the lion had jumped over a cliff."

"A third expert came in and said that he had seen a bear carrying off the other two members of the party by the trousers. He said it was lucky for me that I had stayed in camp that day."

"While we were talking a big storm broke. There was a flash of lightning and a clap of thunder. It scared the hero whose bear had fallen into a chasm, and he said:

"Boys, I told a lie. I haven't killed a bear, or even seen one."

"Then there came a terrible clap of thunder and the hunter who had brought such sad tidings of our absent friends said:

"I told a lie, too. No bear carried off the other boys. They said it looked like rain and so they went into town."

"The next clap of thunder did away with the other fellow's town. When the next flash of lightning came these stood a bear about 10 feet high right in the door of our tent."

"One of the hunters who had achieved such triumphs at various times jumped up and dived into the milk can and closed the top down tight after him. The others bolted under the edge of the tent and escaped."

"What did you do?"

"Oh, I killed the bear," said the sportsman. "As soon as I saw how badly scared the other fellows were I drew my hunting knife and killed the bear. It was funny, though, how frightened those other fellows were."

"Aren't you afraid of thunder and lightning?" asked the inquisitive boarder.

Successful Angling.

(Miltonville, Kan., Record.)

The Glazen Sun boasts because a couple of Glazen ladies were working together landed an eight-pound fish. That's nothing—we know a Miltonville girl who alone and unaided got a 160-pound sucker, and another who landed a 200-pound bullhead, with her whole family trying to help it get away.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says:

Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night."

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured."

"You may publish this if you wish."—Miss CLARA L. GAUWITZ, R.R. No. 4, Box 62, Peoria, Ill.

Vacation Suggestions

MARLIN BUREAU Waco Morning News

Page Collier, Correspondent
Over Postoffice Telephone 557

Marlin, Aug. 15.—Mrs. H. M. Torbett is visiting relatives at McGregor.

Miss Ora Mae Oakes is visiting friends in Reagan.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Levy and son went to Waco today on a visit to relatives.

Miss Noma Pearl Hewer left Marlin Thursday for her home in Groesbeck, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. H. H. Hawkins.

Mrs. W. E. Thrash and children, who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Clark, have returned to their home in San Antonio.

Mrs. M. E. Lee, who has been a guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. L. Rimes, returned to her home in San Angelo Thursday.

Will Rowdon, who is with Gardner & Holloway, is spending some of his vacation in Austin, Granger and other places of interest in that section of the state.

The Cozy Airplane was crowded Thursday night for the U. D. C. benefit performance. The Cozy put on a good show, and a nice sum went to the ladies.

G. L. Peoples of Aledo, Tex., is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. W. Stuart. Mr. Peoples has been away from Falls county about eight years and is another product of the county who has made good.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Torbett and J. Walter Torbett Jr. left today for New Orleans, where they will take passage via the boat for New York. They will also visit Niagara Falls and Canada while away. Dr. Torbett will attend the polyclinic and deliver a lecture before the American Electro-Therapeutic association.

Mrs. J. W. Bartlett entertained a party of girls with a picture party in honor of her niece, Miss Emily 18, of Austin. In the party were Misses Emily Rice, Mary Louise Allen, Alene Freeman, Frances Carter, Sallie Burke Rush, Julia and Emma Hunter, Mamie and Margaret Keesee, Ruth Tomlinson, Ramona Fishburn. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lester of Cameron, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stuart, have returned home. While here, through the courtesy of Mrs. W. F. Doughty, they visited the Marlin school building and were most favorably impressed, both pleased and surprised with the excellent equipment of the building.

Delightful Shower Party.
One of the most interesting and beautiful affairs given during the summer was enjoyed this morning when Mesdames Gerie Epstein and Leon Alexander invited some forty ladies in honor of Miss Reva Davidson, who is soon to be a bride. The entire reception suit of the Alexander home had been decorated in hearts and ribbons, all in red, which bespoke the intense love for the young lady who is soon to go from us as a bride. In the center of the hall was a big double heart, with the word "Reva" in golden letters. Eight tables were arranged for forty-two and five hundred tiny red hearts for score cards, and each game meant a golden heart added to the red one. Six games were played and from the laughter and fun going the rounds everyone was having a good time. When the games were half over Mesdames Alexander and Epstein came through the several rooms and pinned a tiny favor of small white wedding slipper on each guest. These dainty souvenirs acted as a forerunner of the approaching marriage of Miss Davidson.

GOOD RIFLE SCORES.
National Rifle Association Holds Interesting Meet.

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 15.—Corporal Thomas E. Verser, company G, 14th U. S. Infantry; Captain B. P. Cole of the West Virginia national guard and Sergeant W. Pearson of the Oregon coast artillery won the three matches completed today in the tournament of the National Rifle association.

Corporal Verser won the Wimbledon match with a score of 99 points out of a possible 100 and eight bullseyes to his credit. Lieutenant Col. C. D. Winder, who was second, also had 99 points but only four bullseyes.

Capt. H. C. Earnshaw of the 2nd Infantry was third with 98.

There were eight scores of 98. One hundred and thirty prizes were awarded. The first 100 winners had scores of 92 points, or better.

The Hale match was won by Captain Cole with a score of 50 plus 19 consecutive bullseyes. The match was shot on the 600-yard range at slow fire.

The Catrow cup match, shot on the 800, 900 and 1,000-yard ranges, was won by Sergeant Pearson with 103 out of a possible 105 points. There were five who tied at 103 for the cup but Pearson's possible on the 1,000-yard range gave him the victory.

Among the shooters lined up today were members of the Argentine and the Peruvian teams. Today's scores gave the foreign contestants a great many misses.

FIGHT IS HARD IN THE CAUCUS

THREE HOURS OF LIVELY DISCUSSION ON CURRENCY LEGISLATION.

HENRY WANTS SEVERAL CHANGES

Attacks Refund of Two Per Cent Bonds and Makes Plea for "Corn Tassel Cash."

Washington, Aug. 15.—After three hours of lively discussion between the administration forces and the currency "insurgents," the House democratic caucus late today adjourned until Monday. The fight for amendments to the bill has been bitter and tonight prospects were that the caucus might run through all of next week, with a final contest on the floor of the House inevitable.

Attacks on the bill began in the caucus soon after Representative Bourland of Missouri entered upon an analytical defense of the measure. He and Majority Leader Underwood were frequently interrupted. Mr. Underwood, discussing the proposed controlling federal reserve board, said the administration, happening to be in power, regardless of politics, would be most vitally interested always in preventing panic or depression and insisted that the twelve reserve districts, instead of being means of monopoly, would be a protection against the concentration of currency in New York.

Representative Hardwick of Georgia attacked the bill as creating a great monopoly in money, establishing a "gigantic political and financial machine, conferring greater power than any man or set of men should have." He declared that the day was apt to come when "some mounted Roosevelt would get the government reins and perpetuate himself as a Diaz with all the powers of banks, railroads and other corporations linked."

Representative Wingo of Arkansas, disclaiming any connection between his amendments and those prepared by others who are fighting for changes, said he proposed to protect the farmers' notes annually held in the southern and western banks. "I plead," he said, "for sound business and not populism."

Representative Henry of Texas, advocating amendments against introducing direct taxes and for what he called "corn tassel and cotton bolls cash," asserted that the refunding of the 2 per cent circulating bonds by the 3 per cent non-circulating bonds would permit a "big grab and steal by big banks."

LYNCH IS CENSURED

NIBLOCH CRITICISES PRESIDENT OF TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION AND SUPPORTERS.

Claim Effort to Unionize Pittsburgh Papers Was Waste of Money.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 15.—President Lynch and the forces in control of the International Typographical union were scored today on the floor of the convention of the organization by Delegate Charles J. Nibloch of Pittsburgh, Pa., but as on previous occasions, the administration was sustained by a decisive vote.

The incident was in connection with the so-called "Pittsburgh appeal," involving methods pursued in unionizing the newspapers of that city. The Pittsburgh local, declaring that the issue was rather one of principle than one of money, took issue with the decision of the executive committee of the organization, which allowed the expenses of the organizer sent to Pittsburgh, $400. After a spirited debate the committee's action was approved, 189 to 54.

Nibloch asserted that politics more than the efforts of the organizer was responsible for the unionizing of the newspapers. "United States Senators Oliver and Penrose were owners of five of the papers and because of their political aspirations agreed to the union's demands, and charged that the organizer sent by the international union had conducted his campaign largely on street corners and in saloons and that but few of the men were initiated in union halls. President Grimes of the Pittsburgh union asserted that secret telephonic devices had been used to get evidence against him.

President Lynch relinquished the chair long enough to reply to the Pittsburgh delegates. He denied that either Senator Penrose or Senator Oliver had been instrumental in unionizing the papers and made the counter charge that the action taken by the Pittsburgh local was a movement to disrupt the organization there and cause a receiver to be appointed for the organization.

The convention will adjourn sine die tomorrow morning. Today's session lasted from 9:30 this morning until 6 o'clock tonight.

BURLESON USES PARCEL POST.

Mails President 17 Pounds of Peaches for 13 Cents.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Postmaster General Burleson today inaugurated the new regulations changing the parcel post rates and weight limit, by mailing President Wilson a box of fine Georgia peaches. The box weighed 17 pounds, with a postage charge of 13 cents. Delivered with it was a note in which the postmaster general said:

"This is an illustration of the opportunity which has been opened to the farmer, the horticulturist, the manufacturer and to every citizen of the country who will avail himself of this valuable adjunct of the postal service in the promotion of commerce and business of our people."

The service which became effective today raises the maximum weight of parcel post packages from eleven to twenty pounds and makes certain changes in the rates.

JAPAN WANTS NO INDEMNITY PAID

WILL ALLOW MATTER TO SIMPLY CONTINUE AS A GRIEVANCE.

ASKS TO EXPEL MISSIONARIES

Sensational Newspaper Says Make Object Lesson by Their Expulsion From Country.

Tokio, Aug. 15.—It was announced here today that the United States has intimated readiness to favor in principle the payment of an indemnity to Japanese who have been affected by the California alien land ownership legislation. The United States has also recognized the right of Japan to adopt a measure similar to the California bill.

From intimation given in official circles, it appears unlikely that Japan will adopt either idea. What Japan desires is permanent friendly relations with the United States and therefore she seeks a fundamental solution of the difficulty. If the United States has no solution to offer, it is stated Japan will probably allow the matter to remain as a grievance.

The public feeling of humiliation in this connection continues to be fanned by inflammatory comments in the newspapers.

The Hochi Shimbun, which is often sensational, urges as an object lesson to the United States the expulsion of the American missionaries from Korea on the ground that they are undesirable.

No Statement from Washington.
Washington, Aug. 15.—While officials here consistently adhere to their refusal to make any public statement concerning the negotiations between Japan and the United States regarding the California alien land law, it is understood that in its efforts to deal fairly with the Japanese government the state department had indicated a purpose to facilitate any judicial proceedings that may be brought to test the legislation.

The proposal, it is said, does not go as far as that made by President Roosevelt in the Japanese school cases, where the United States disavowed attorney was charged to attack the legality of the action of the San Francisco school board, but does commit the United States to the extension of all reasonable aid in the prosecution of test cases.

A suggestion that Japanese residents in California who may suffer from the application of the alien land act be indemnified has been made on account of the precedent established in the case of Chinese, who were killed at Rock Springs, Wyoming, years ago, and the Italians who were lynched in New Orleans during the Mafia riots. It is pointed out, however, that the United States probably would guarantee Japanese land owners against loss in the event that they were actually properly compensated for property they were obliged to dispose of under the Webb-Bloodgood act.

THE CELESTIAL POLES.

They Are Exact Points Where Earth's Axis Would Lie if Extended.

(Edgar Lucien Larkin, in New York American.)

When the United States government surveys divided the land into townships and sections as the bounds of civilization moved ever onward toward the west, they had first to locate standard base lines with all possible accuracy. These lines, marked by cornerstones, were located with great precision by means of astronomical observations.

The standard meridians, lines due north and south, were determined by observing Polaris, the North star, when above and below the true celestial pole. The poles of the celestial sphere are the exact points where the axis of the earth would lie if extended.

out both ways to infinity. The extension of the north end of the axis of the earth into space is the absolute north. But this line or point actually moves. And every object in the entire universe moves, therefore if astronomers at great pains locate a base line in space, then, in a few years it will be useless because the equator and axis of the earth are in motion.

This mysterious motion completely upset the ancient Hindu, Babylonian, Assyrian, Arabian, Egyptian and Greek astronomers, and temple and pyramid builders. They would locate, orientate their huge buildings and pyramidal structures with all the precision possible without telescopes, and all would be well for a century or two. Then a north and south line through their building would no longer point outward the North star. And a star that at the time of the building of the temples sent its ray at instant of rising into the center of the eastern gates now did so no longer.

This fact had a profound effect on the hierophants of all antiquity. It was an unsolvable mystery. A number of years ago I published a monograph on this fascinating subject, entitled "The Waning of the Light of Egypt." The Egyptian and Greek astronomers watched this majestic motion of the equator and axis of the earth during centuries without securing a clue to its cause. None among the human race was able to even surmise the hidden cause until the mighty brain of Newton rose to superficial heights, discovered the true cause and explained it for all coming generations. The equator and axis of the earth move, and, of course, the entire solid globe has to move to displace these imaginary lines among the stars.

ESCAPES JAIL BY HAIR.

It Was Black, Instead of Brown, and Prisoner Went Free.

(New York Tribune.)
Frank Winter, charged with conducting a poker parlor in 121 West Twenty-first street, was discharged in the Jefferson Market court when it was established that his hair was black instead of brown, as Detective Michael Erb, of the Central office, had made affidavit.

Erb testified that on the evening of July 2 he bought $10 worth of chips from Winter and played until he lost them all. Winter, who lives in Lyndhurst, N. J., and says he is a salesman, said that he did not sell Erb the chips. He said that he was the paid secretary of the Columbus Social club, which occupied the room visited, and that he never sold poker chips.

"Your affidavit describes this man as having brown hair," said Magistrate Breen to Erb. "His hair is very evidently black. How do you account for that?"

"I maintain that his hair is a dark brown," Erb answered.

Winter said he considered his hair was black, and, in fact, that at the time of Erb's visit he was the only black-haired man in the place. Erb's testimony was unsubstantiated, and the discrepancy in the description of the man's hair influenced Magistrate Breen to discharge the defendant.

International Sunday School Lesson

Crossing the Red Sea

Third Quarter. Lesson 7.

Ex. 13:17-14:31. August 17, 1913.

Israel made no hasty or clandestine departure from Egypt. There was no attempted escape of fugitives from justice. They had a royal firman. The Egyptians fairly loaded them with gifts in hopes of placating the wrath of their offended deity. The store of raw materials and metals they carried with them enabled them to make in the wilderness the tabernacle and its furniture and all their armor, offensive and defensive. They were an orderly march. They advanced in tribes, each under its respective commander. Moses in the van, wonder-working rod in hand. In the midst, as a veritable palladium, Joseph's mummied form, inclosed in its hieroglyphic-covered casket, was carried according to his dying request. For sake of pasturage by the way for the myriad flocks and herds, the advancing hosts must needs deploy widely to right and left. To direct a general course for these somewhat widely-sundered detachments, God unfurled his pennon in the sky. That banner served a three-fold purpose—signal, shield and lantern. To Israel's dismay, Jehovah's ensign moved in the very opposite direction from that which would have been expected. Instead of indicating a course toward Sinai, the bridge between the continents, it moved southward along the western shore of the Red Sea, thus placing an ever-widening barrier between the pilgrim caravan and the country which they sought. When the ever alert Pharaoh saw this tactic blunder, this march into a cul de sac, the hope of recovering lost power revived in the despot's heart. Or possibly it was the hope of revenge for the death of his son and heir, who recently discovered epitaph (?) he was even then conning. He believed that the hapless Hebrews had unwittingly strayed beyond the jurisdiction of their God, who at best was only a local deity, and would fall an easy prey. At sight and sound of pursuing chariots Israel was completely panic-stricken. They raised a querulous cry about there being plenty of graveyards in Egypt, and no need of coming to the wilderness to find one. In the dark background of their faithless and irascible conduct of the multitude the noble bearing of Moses shines with augmented luster. His "Stand still and see the salvation of God!" is an incomparable, inspiring bugle-note that has kept ringing through the ages.

A moment later and the captain of the Lord's hosts stands on the edge of the comparatively shallow western arm of the sea. He waves his oft-tried rod. In response there comes from the east a violent wind, in conjunction with an ebbing tide, leaves the bed of the sea uncovered. Deep pools to right and left formed a perfect defense (wall), rendering a flank movement on the part of the enemy impracticable. In the meantime the pillar of cloud went to the rear, and spreading out and hanging low like a curtain, completely screened them from the observation of their foes. The sun a cloud cast its powerful searchlight forward, revealing the length through the sea in its entire length. "Forward, march!" was now the inspiring command that rang along the whole column. Across the bridge which Jehovah hath provided, the host, a thousand abreast, marched, and no little child, not even a faintling, was left behind. The temerity of sinners has no more striking illustration than the rash boldness with which the Egyptians essayed to use in pursuing them, the very bridge which God had made for people. Pharaoh soon found he was not Moses, was in the cul de sac. God thundered and lightened out of his cloud, phenomena so rare in Egypt as to strike terror to man and beast. Progress of the Egyptian host was delayed until the flood-tide when the wind abated, and the conditions were reversed, favored Israel being exactly reversed, the Egyptians were whelmed in the deep.

The Teacher's Lantern. The inveterate character of sin is exemplified in Pharaoh. Ten plagues were not enough to kill it. The sight of Israel once more apparently within his grasp, the despot forgot all his sufferings. Like the sinner who supposed himself to be dying, and had promised the restitution of certain things, but added, "Remember, Lord, this don't count if I get well!" so Pharaoh's consent to let Israel go was given under the supposition that their departure was inevitable. Lapse in faith disgraced Israel in his very exodus from Egypt. Sea in front and chariots to rear outweighed all the signs and wonders God had wrought in Egypt. A timid and querulous spirit it took possession of him. The church of today and individual Christians are no exception. The wonder-paved way God has led us should confirm our faith that he will still lead us on, though he divide seas to do it. David's well when he says: "The Lord hath been mindful of us; he will bless us." Shriving the Bible of the miraculous is a gratuitous task. The Bible is shot all through with the supernatural. One miracle, more or less, in a small figure. But the very terms of the Scripture account, in this instance, need to pray to be saved from a similitude to believe that the means used to make a way for Israel through the sea were largely natural. Moses' rod did not divide the flood. It evoked a strong wind; that, in conjunction with the ebb-tide, did the rest. Pharaoh's mummy is a most inconvenient find for strictly literal interpreters of Scripture. Does the record force the conclusion that Pharaoh himself was drowned? It is not the custom for commanding officers to put themselves in positions of peril, but the contrary. When Pharaoh's host was overthrown in the Red Sea, Pharaoh's self was overthrown practically, though not literally.

The young people's devotional service, Aug. 17, 1913; Psalm 104:1-35. Lessons from Forests and Fields (and outdoor meetings).

Contemplation of the world of nature—its majesty, magnitude, variety, and sublimity—invariably leads to praise. It provokes a sweet meditation on God. The soul cries: "I will sing unto the Lord." "I will sing praise unto my God!" "Bless thou the Lord, O my soul! Praise ye the Lord!"

Lessons From Nature.

The buds of the new leaves grow just beneath the old, dead leaves, and push them off if they linger on the branches till spring. Thus new life in the heart will of itself free us from all that is old and ugly.

If you want to destroy a path simply keep people from walking on it, and the weeds and bushes will soon take possession. You must walk frequently along the path of a good habit also, if you want to preserve it.

Decayed wood becomes phosphorescent. It is like the light which illuminates the features of age, when death is near after a well-spent life.

Birds born in the north know the way to the southern winter home which they have never seen; and shall not the human soul find its way to heaven, though it has never been there?

Nothing in nature is inharmonious, not even the blue and green of sky and trees. And nothing in life is inharmonious when it has God in it as nature has.

However, the botanist has not lost his interest in the flowers, and while he enjoys the use of flowers as much as any one he is able by reason of his intimacy with them, to explore a broad field wholly unseen by the popular eye. The same is true of birds. One may think he knows something of birds but when he hears a man lecture on the birds—a man who has specialized on this subject—he feels that he knew nothing at all. E. Quarterly. Nature is not a mere image or emblem of the spiritual; it is a working model of the spiritual—Henry Drummond.

Christian Endeavor Versus Sunday School.

The importance of Christian Endeavor in the training of young people for service of the church was clearly presented at a recent meeting of the Dallas Christian Endeavor union.

One of the features of the union meeting was a debate on the subject, "Is the Christian Endeavor society or society is worth as much to the church as the Sunday school." After both sides of the question had been presented by leaders in Christian Endeavor and Sunday school work in the city of Dallas the discussion was awarded to the affirmative.

GRAND JURY INDICTS THREE

Names of Parties Charged with Burning Fort Worth Church Withheld.

Fort Worth, Aug. 15.—Three indictments for the burning of the First Baptist church of this city were returned by the grand jury of the Sixty-Seventh District court this evening. Pending arrests the names of the persons indicted have been withheld. Each of the indictments charges the defendant with arson in two counts, one for the first fire at the church, which was discovered and put out, and the other for the fire which resulted in its destruction.

Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the church, was indicted by a former grand jury, charged with setting fire to the church. Recently the charge against him was dismissed by the county attorney's office. The defense in the Norris perjury trial growing out of grand jury testimony in connection with the investigation of the fire made the contention that the charge against the pastor and parts of the evidence against him were parts of a conspiracy against him.

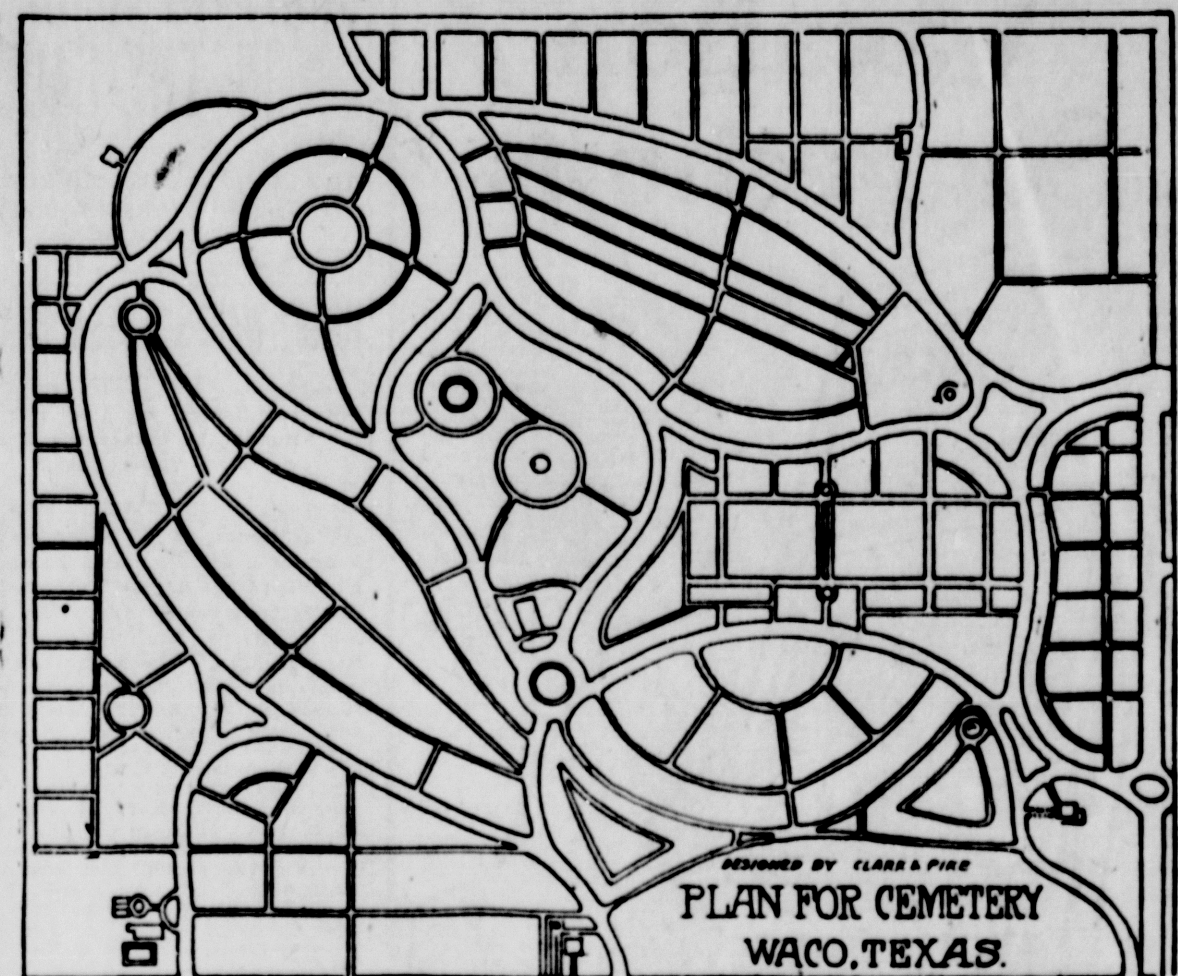

County Infirmary Burns.

Provo, Utah, Aug. 15.—Heroic work by people living in the vicinity saved the lives of all the forty inmates of the Utah County infirmary, three miles southeast of here, when the building was destroyed by fire today. Rescuers, braving the flames, carried out many inmates.

The structure, valued at $45,000, was destroyed.

Snatches Bills at Bank.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15.—A stranger walked into the New York State National bank here today, thrust his arm through one of the paying teller's windows, grabbed bills aggregating $875 and rushed out into crowded State street, where he escaped.

Hard to Sleep in Kansas City Now

Kansas City, Aug. 15.—Unique schemes have been adopted by many residents of Kansas City to obtain sleep during the hot nights which have prevailed for more than two weeks.

Scores of wealthy families start for the country in their motor cars at night and when they come to an elevated spot where the prospect of a breeze seems good, they get out, pitch their beds in the open and sleep there until driven back by the sun's hot rays. Bert Goins, swimming instructor of the Kansas City Yacht club, said today that he slept with a damp blanket over him.

"I am always in the water and don't take cold, but I would not advise any one else to adopt my plan," he said. Many persons sleep in motor boats in the Missouri river, where the air is cool after dark.

Pilgrims Monument Unveiled.

Southampton, Aug. 15.—A memorial in honor of the centenary of the departure of the pilgrims from Southampton to America was unveiled here today by Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador. It is a column erected on the site of the pier from which they embarked on the Mayflower.

The ceremonies were presided over by the mayor of Southampton. Speeches were made by members of the Aiden, Winslow and Brewster families and by Joseph G. Butler of Youngstown, Ohio, who unveiled the Ohio panel at the base of the monument.

Ambassador Page dedicated the monument with an oration in which he quoted James Russell as saying that the pilgrims were only colonists who went in search of God instead of gold. He continued:

"They had not been kindly enough treated in England to make life tolerable to them, but still they wished to be English subjects. Blood, institutions, loyalty and the trick of supremacy in the breed were theirs and should always be theirs. In all the combinations of the races of men and in all the workings of circumstance no other fusion of great forces was ever so nearly invincible.

HIGH SCHOOL FOR HUBBARD.

$20,000 Bonds to Be Issued for New Building.

Hubbard City, Aug. 15.—An election was held here to determine whether bonds to the extent of $20,000 might be issued for the erection of a high school building. The result of the election was 110 votes for the measure and eight against.

This will enable the school board to relieve the present crowded condition of the public schools. The voters of Hubbard City have again demonstrated their deep loyalty to the schools of their city. Already they have voted the maximum special school tax. The high school is affiliated with most all the colleges and universities of the state, and it will be the endeavor of the management to extend the course of study, and increase the usefulness of the public school system of Hubbard City.

Land Appraisers Meet.

Austin, Aug. 15.—The State Board of Land Appraisers met here today and organized by electing R. W. Priest of Panola county chairman and L. E. Cowling of Randall county secretary. State Land Commissioner J. T. Robinson is ex-officio member of the board.

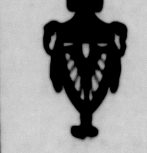

The duties of the board are to pass on revaluation of lands sold on condition of settlement which have been forfeited for non-payment of interest. The board will begin work next Monday, going to Midland and from there working on up to North Texas.

Fort Worth	59	70	.458
Galveston	57	73	.438
Beaumont	48	81	.372

Beaumont kept up her reputation of a good starting team yesterday, also of being a very bad finisher. Willie, the one bright spot on the otherwise deservingly dull and club, met a grove fairly on the nose in the first inning, sending it over the right field fence for the Oilers' lone tally.

The real ball player on the cellar-champion aggregation is a youngster in uniform but not on the payroll of the club. Just why Leidy does not use him and discard some of the useless material he lugs around the circuit is hard to understand. Perhaps there is a low age limit in the Texas league.

The lad under discussion is the mascot of the team. As a mascot he seems to be a failure, so far as bringing luck to the club, but he shows more baseball to the square inch than any man on the team, of course excepting Jim Williams and Willie. The lad warmed up with the team and among other things swung onto a high fly with one hand, out in right field. He peps, handles grounders and above all he tags; he never fails to tag the imaginary runner. It is supposed Leidy is discouraged trying to do anything with his present troupe and has decided to raise up a club. He has made a good start.

So far as Waco's playing is concerned there was not much to it outside of high class ball playing showing up to great advantage against loose, and at times, home head playing. The Navigators behind Ashton played heady, aggressive ball.

Ashton himself pitched his usual steady game, letting them hit what they wanted, giving the fielders enough work to keep them on their toes, but shutting up like a clam when things looked bad. He derived considerable pleasure in striking out some of the best sluggers at critical times, especially big Jim.

A well worked double steal in the first inning for Waco tied the score. Duguey on third (naturally) Duguey was in it and Beck on first were the guilty parties. Beck took just the right lead and made it to second and Jake beat the throw of Dohard back to home thereby getting credit for a steal and bringing in the run.

How the Score Was Made.—After Maloney had struck out in the first inning for Beaumont, Willie hit the second ball pitched to him over the fence. Exit Beaumont from the scoring arena.

Duguey, the first man up for Waco, walked and stole. McLoughlin flew out and Beck hit to Pitcher Palm, who threw high to McMahon at third. Duguey getting safe on the third sack and Beck being credited with a hit. The Cincinnati variety. The Beck-Duguey double, then opened the run column for Waco. Wohleben hit a fly to Willie who threw Beck out at second.

In the second inning for Beaumont Cooke singled, Dohard sacrificed, McMahon hit, Edmiston walked and Palm drove one to Tanner, who fielded it quickly to Duguey, forcing Edmiston. Jake in turn throwing Palm out at first.

In the fourth for Waco Beck teased Palm into giving up by becoming interested in the peculiarity of the gravel surrounding home plate, and persisting in making his investigations of same just as Palm delivered the ball. Wohleben grounded out. Renbach reached first on Palm's error. Crichtlow drove one over first base scoring Beck from second. Tanner fouled out and Reilly walked, while Ashton was at the plate, Renbach attempted to steal home, but Ashton struck out.

The sixth was the inning in which Waco found Palm consistently, as had been expected by all watching the process of weakening through which that pitcher was passing. He worked entirely too hard to continue through the nine innings. Tanner walked, Reilly hit, Ashton forced Tanner at third, Duguey hit, scoring Reilly, McLoughlin hit, scoring Ashton and Duguey; Beck flew out to Willie and Wohleben fouled out to McMahon.

In Handicap Match Demetral Fails to Deliver.

Chief Montour was the winner in the wrestling bout at the Auditorium last night. The conditions were that Demetral was to throw Montour two falls in seventy-five minutes. He got only one fall in seventy-five minutes, the first fall went to forty-one minutes, and only having thirty-six minutes to work in he didn't succeed in getting the second fall. Both men worked with a will and were anxious to win. Chief Montour says he has trained every day since the last match and that the Greek will not do him as he did the previous match.

Chicago Swimmer After New 200-Yard Record

Michael McDermott of the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago, America's champion and record holder in breast stroke swimming, will attempt to create a new 200-yard standard at the water carnival to be held at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, on August 27, 28 and 29, in connection with the Perry Centennial celebrations, and confidence is felt that he will succeed in the undertaking.

The young westerner has bettered the classic figures several times already in the past, and he is now moving faster than ever. It is a foregone conclusion that he will capture the central championship title, at stake in the coming event, and if conditions are not unfavorable there is no doubt that he will lower the open water mark now obtaining.

McDermott, although but twenty years old, has been the peer of our best stroke swimmers since 1910, and completed for this country at the Stockholm Olympics, defeating many of the leading European cracks. He is a stocky, powerful young athlete, standing 5 feet 6 1/2 inches, and weighing 160 pounds.

Chicago 14, Boston 6.—Boston, Aug. 15.—Chicago batted three Boston pitchers hard today, easily winning 14 to 6. Strand, who pitched the ninth inning for Boston, was the only box man to keep Chicago from reaching first base. Laverder was wild.

Score—R H E. Chicago.....104 400 140—14 16 4. Boston.....101 020 020—6 5 1. Batteries—Laverder, Cheney and Archer; Hrenshahn, Hess, Perdue, James, Strand, Rariden.

Philadelphia 3, Cincinnati 2.—Philadelphia, Aug. 15.—Philadelphia took a third straight game from Cincinnati today, winning 3 to 2, in eleven innings. One of the three hits allowed the locals by Johnson, the visitors' Indian pitcher, in eight innings, was Paskert's home run in the first.

Score—R H E. Cincinnati.....000 000 002—2 8 0. Philadelphia.....100 000 100—3 16 0. Batteries—Caldwell and Sweeney; Clotte and Schalk.

Pittsburg 3, Brooklyn 3.—Brooklyn, Aug. 15.—Pittsburg's farewell appearance for the season here today produced a fourteen-inning tie game with Brooklyn, darkness ending the contest with the score 3 to 3. It was a battle of wits after the Pirates tied the game in the ninth, both managers ordering their pitchers to walk dangerous hitters several times in the pinches. Dahien brought all his right-handed batters into the game with success.

Score—R H E. Pittsburg.....000 002 001 000 000—3 11 1. Brooklyn.....200 000 001 000 000—3 9 1. Batteries—Coyne, Robinson and Gibson; Reulbach, Rucker, Ragan, Allen and Miller.

WASHINGTON AS A MASON.

Father of His Country Initiated Before He Reached Twenty-One.—(Rev. T. B. Gregory in New York American.) It was 160 years ago—August 5, 1753—that George Washington was raised from the "dead level to the living perpendicular" and given the 33rd degree. Right to look upon the "hieroglyphic light which none but traitors ever saw."

The venerable and venerated records of Fredericksburg Lodge show that Washington was initiated on November 4, 1752, passed fellowcraft March 2, 1753, and was raised to the sublime degree of master Mason August 4, 1753.

Strange to say it appears to be a fact that the Father of His Country was initiated before he had reached the required age of 21 years. Daniel Campbell, master of the lodge, granted the special dispensation which enabled the candidate to begin his eastward journey while still a minor.

Grand Master French, of the District of Columbia, declared in an address delivered in 1851, that no one stopped to inquire about Washington's age when his petition was presented; that the majestic proportions of the candidate, together with his well known character and ability, made upon all concerned the impression that might have been made by a thoroughly matured man.

It appears, however, that the dispensation was based upon the fact that the candidate's pressing duties demanded it. So busy a man was to be received when it was convenient for him.

Washington remained a member of the Fredericksburg lodge to the day of his death. Among the many other distinguished men whose names appear upon the rolls of the lodge are George Wever, Washington's adjutant general; Gen. Hugh Mercer, who fell at the battle of Princeton; Jacob Von Bruam, Washington's instructor in sword practice, and Fielding Lewis, Washington's brother-in-law.

The Bible that was used at the time Washington was made a Mason is still in possession of the Virginia lodge, and is guarded with unremitting care and affection. It is said to be 226 years old, and is still in an excellent state of preservation.

In the evil days of the war between the States the old town of Fredericksburg lay between the opposing lines of Lee and Burnside, and while the bloody struggle was on thousands on both sides thought of the little temple and altar and Bible that were so lovingly associated in their recollection with the man who made the nation whose very existence was then trembling in the balance.

More Calls for Warrants.—August 15, 1913.—State Treasurer J. M. Edwards issued the second call this week for state warrants, pension and revenue. Warrants up to and including 40,100 are included in the call and the total amount of the call is $64,654. Heavy payment of tax collections made the call possible. All warrants with the exceptions of those drawn against appropriations will be paid out this month, if the tax collections continue to pour in.

Fliers patented by an Illinois inventor, neatly split insulation and skin it from wires.

For Sale—Real Estate.

DO YOU CONTEMPLATE MAKING AN INVESTMENT? IF SO, INVESTIGATE THE FOLLOWING:

50x165 feet, right in the heart of the business district on Austin street, price $75,000; one-third cash.

A fine investment on Franklin street, 45x165 feet. This is a bargain at $40,000.

450 feet of trackage between 15th and 16th Sts. This is a real bargain. Price $50 per front foot.

A lot on Elm St., which will prove intensely interesting as an investment. Two of the best built homes on Gorman St., well located; price $15,250 each. Small cash payment and good terms on balance.

$13,500 buys one of the nicest little homes on Sanger Ave. Small cash payment, balance to suit.

One of the largest and best located boarding houses on Washington St., for $15,000. This is a real bargain; will not only yield a good rental revenue, but will make the purchaser 25 per cent profit on his investment.

250x165 feet on Elm St. at $40 per front foot. At this price the purchaser will make a good profit.

One of the best located lots on Austin St., at a price which is most attractive.

6 choice lots on Barnard St. To a party seeking an investment this should be attractive.

A fine home of 7 large rooms, hall and bath; east front and large shade trees; lot 65x165 feet; just nice distance from city on North 5th St.; price $16,250.

For just $400 cash and a monthly payment of $20 you may become the owner of an attractive little 4-room home on Morrow St., just one block from car line.

$40 cash and monthly payments of $15 will get you a new 3-room cottage in East Waco. The location and price are both right.

We have a bargain in a well built home on N. 15th St.; lot 75x165 feet, east front; price $4,750.

A nice 6-room cottage on Columbus St.; bath and electric lights; price $4,250. $250 cash balance in monthly payments of $10 each. This is an excellent opportunity to own a home.

One-half block of lots on Farwell Heights at a price that will yield a good revenue on the investment.

One of the best stock farming propositions in Bosque county, consisting of more than 1,300 acres, for $25,000. Good farm of 250 acres, more tillable; good grass land, abundant supply of pure water, four miles of good railroad town.

150 acres, 15 miles west of Waco on pipe road, extra well improved; beautiful home, 135 acres in cultivation; price $90 per acre.

100 acres, just 7 miles from Waco, in high state of cultivation; good improvements; price $120 per acre; will consider some trade.

250 acres of rich black land, as there is in Waco, in high state of cultivation; in the heart of the Swedish settlement and at a price which will prove most attractive, either as an investment or for a home.

And is one of the safest investments you can make. The price is as low now as it will ever be.

GET BUSY AND BUY.
We have all kinds of deals, but will only mention a few. Let us know what you want to buy or sell and we will help you.

Six-room house, near Baylor, located on corner and in one block of car; good east front lot; owner will sell for $2,500, and will take about $500 cash and terms on balance.

Five-room house, on Taylor St. This is a good buy, on Taylor St., East Waco; large barn, shade trees, sewer, south front lot and worth the money, $1,700.

Five-room house, Bell's Hill, located on good south front, corner lot; special price $1,500; will take reasonable payment and terms.

House and good lot, right near the N. 15th St. car; fronts south, with good houses all around it, always rented, and a good investment for $1,500. This is the only chance to make an investment in that immediate section for the money.

Three $2,000 houses. These are well located, on good streets in Northwest Waco. 1. On the corner of Gorman St., $2,250. This is a new 5-room house—$1,200 loan can be assumed; would take $1,000 in trade as first payment. 2. Good new cottage on 11th St., on corner. 3. A good new place on 13th St., east front. We will make the terms right.

We will build houses on the many vacant lots that we control. You select the lot and the plan of house that you want, and make a small cash payment, with easy payment, and we will do the rest. Let us show you and talk over the building proposition.

Business Propositions—We have a number of good business openings, and if you want to go into business here, let us know what you want. We are in touch with a number of good deals. And, on the other hand, if you want to sell out your business or make a change tell us about it. We receive many letters from parties wanting to come to Waco. All business confidential.

After Four Years Trial—Attwell and Dexter Play Off an Old Score.
Finals Today.

Waco, Dallas and Houston took the honors in the first day's play of the state-wide golf tournament on the Huaco links yesterday, the home club having two in the first four leading players. George Totan came off an easy winner, while Clarence Hubby Jr. in a well-played match, outpointed a veteran opponent.

Hubby, high honors of the tournament now lie with Rotan, Hubby, Dexter of Dallas and Heard of Houston. The final matches will be played today.

The Huaco course was an animated scene during the whole of the morning and afternoon, over fifty players being engaged. A tent was set up at the beginning of the course, where half a hundred caddies and as many onlookers were stationed. Half way around the course refreshments were served under a shady tree.

Players in Qualifying Round.

The following were the players in the qualifying round:
Bernet, Harrison, Powell, Johnson, Jester, Carter, Fairbanks, Lacy, Fowler, Kirby, T. B. Cochran, C. M. Hubby Jr., Baker, Heard, McLendon, Davis, Hall, Connerly, Rotan, T. E. Hubby, T. B. Cochran, Dexter, Hale, Brown, Whorton, Attwell, Monaghan, Stedman, Rathskeller, Searight, Moulden, Newton, C. E. Mangham, Gray, Russell, J. E. Mangham.

Of the above the following qualified:
Bernet, Powell, Jester, Carter, Fowler, Kirby, T. B. Cochran, C. M. Hubby Jr., Baker, Heard, McLendon, Davis, Hall, Connerly, Rotan, T. E. Hubby, T. B. Cochran, Dexter, Hale, Brown, Whorton, Attwell, Monaghan, Stedman, Rathskeller, Searight, Moulden, Newton, C. E. Mangham, Gray, Russell, J. E. Mangham.

The qualifying score for eighteen holes was 164.
A pleasing feature of the matches was the high-class work of several younger players, still in their teens. Besides the "E-year-old" "phenom" of Waco, Clarence Hubby, a youngster from San Antonio, Mangham, was among the first sixteen, and won his match handily in the second round. Tom Cochran of Austin also showed great form at times, but in his critical match with Rotan, nervousness put him off his game.

The prettiest match of yesterday's play was that in which Charles Dexter of Dallas beat L. H. Attwell of Houston by a brilliant put on the last green. Attwell put Dexter out of the running in the state championship tournament at Houston last spring. Dexter came back at the recent Dallas tournament and eliminated Attwell. In yesterday's match Dexter took the lead at the start, tying the other two. Then Attwell rallied and brought down the lead until Dexter was only one to the good with one to play. On the final hole Dexter made a ten-foot putt to win the hole and win the match.

Another equally as longer standing was settled when Commodore Bryan Heard of Houston won out over Robert Connerly of Austin. Commodore Heard has been pitted against Connerly in state tournaments for the past four years, but has always come out with the losing score. Yesterday he took the lead on the jump and kept it all the way, winning the match on the sixteenth green, four up and two to play.

Clarence Hubby Jr. found a stout match in R. M. Brown of Houston, a seasoned player. Hubby won, four up and three to play. Mr. Brown made a graceful exit from the race by saying he had never played a better game—that the best man won.

Tora Cochran of Austin was an easy victim for George C. Rotan, from the very first stroke, when Cochran topped his drive into the creek. Rotan beat Cochran, three up and two to play, without exertion.

The four matches above detailed were those of the first division, or first "flight," the thirty-two players who came out ahead on the qualifying round being classed into four flights, according to their qualifying scores. Each flight works out its own championship. The winner in each flight receives a cup.

The high standing of the tournament goes to the winner of the first flight, Hubby vs. Dexter and Rotan vs. Heard are the semi-final matches of the first flight. They will be played this morning. The two winners will fight out this afternoon.

The closest match of the second flight was that in which Alex Stedman of Austin eliminated T. L. Monaghan of Dallas, one up. Stedman trailed during the greater part of the round, but came up on the last few courses, winning on the final green.

The younger Mangham defeated J. B. Davies of Fort Worth 8 up and 6 to play. Turner Hubby of Dallas eliminated Frank M. Gray of Waco 4 up and 2 to play.

J. H. Cochran of Austin eliminated his fellow townsman, Alfred Smith Jr. 5 up and 4 to play.

The semi-finals of the second flight will be Stedman vs. Hubby and Cochran vs. Mangham.

The featured match of the third flight was the nineteen-hole match of A. T. Powell, Dallas, and Shell Carter, Waco. Carter was leading at the end of the

TROLLEY CARS AND INTERURBAN COACHES SHIPPED NEXT WEDNESDAY

Ross Called Before City Board to Explain Slowness of Eighth Street Work—Clamp Lid on Sunday Construction Under Certain Conditions.

Shipment of street cars for use in local service and also on the interurban line from Waco to Dallas will be made from St. Louis Wednesday by the Southern Traction company. The cars will arrive in Waco within about four days after shipment, and those for local service will be installed immediately on arrival.

Harvey R. Ross, local superintendent of the Southern Traction company, who was before the city commission on other matters yesterday morning, announced the date of shipment of the new cars. The cars for local service will be double-truck, similar to those now in use on the North Fifth street line. Mr. Ross stated he did not know on what line the local cars would be installed, but would put them into service immediately upon their arrival.

The superintendent was called before the city commission to answer complaints that the progress of the work of his company on Eighth street was very slow. The commission expressing the opinion that the traction first round, 3 up, but Powell tied the score on the eighteenth, and won the extra hole.

H. M. Bernet of Dallas eliminated Dr. Hall of Waco, 2 up and 1 to play.

Fowler of Waco eliminated Rathskeller of Waco, 3 up and 2 to play.
L. Whorton, Dallas, eliminated Ralph McLendon, Waco, 4 up and 3 to play.

The semi-finals of the third flight will be Bernet vs. Powell and Fowler vs. Whorton.

Joe Kirby of Austin made the sensational play of the day in his fourth flight match with Sykes Newton. Newton took the lead at the start and had his opponent three holes behind with five to play. Kirby rallied on the last hole and tied the score on the seventeenth. On the last hole he won the match by going down on a twenty-foot putt.

F. J. Jester of Dallas won a nineteen-hole match from Baker of Waco, after tying the score on the eighteenth.

Ben Moulden of Waco defeated Robert Reed Russell of San Antonio, 3 up and 2 to play. L. J. W. Hale of Waco defeated J. H. Pettiford of Dallas, 5 up and 4 to play.

The semi-finals of the fourth flight will be Kirby vs. Jester and Moulden vs. Hale.

To Dedicate New Church.
The Methodists of North Waco are rejoicing over the completion of their new church building and in recognition of the event will have the presiding elder, Rev. W. B. Andrews, with them Sunday to preach at the regular service. It is with no small degree of pride that the members of Herring Avenue church look upon their new building, as it represents months of hard work and careful planning; and now that it is completed it opens up a much larger field of usefulness than was possible with the cramped quarters and limited facilities of the past. The public is invited to worship with them whenever possible and can be assured of a cordial welcome.

WILL MEET WITH M'KANNA AND SCALES AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

In connection with the movement inaugurated here by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to cure the habitual and occasional drunkard, representatives of the union, ministers of the town and Dr. McKanna, who was retained for this work, accompanied by his manager, Harry Scales, ex-mayor of Oklahoma City, will meet this morning at 10 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce to devise the best method of conducting the drink-clear-up.

The matter of obtaining headquarters will be considered, and ways to secure the co-operation of the drink victim himself. The campaign will include the treatment of all drunkards at the county jail and police station. They will be treated in the jails. Others who desire to take the treatment a matter of three days, and without cost, will be treated at the central headquarters, which will, in all probability, be located in one of the churches.

The movement was started through the efforts of Mrs. J. E. Kuykendall of North Sixth street, prominent in Woman's Christian Temperance Union affairs, and superintendent-in-charge of the jail work in Waco and over the state. She heard of the McKanna treatment from a county prisoner, and after investigation, the union retained his services.

A brief meeting was held yesterday at the Adams hotel on Fourth street for the formulation of plans, but it was decided to delay mapping out the campaign until this morning at the meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce.

Present at the meeting yesterday were: Mrs. J. E. Kuykendall, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adams, A. J. Barton, Dr. McKanna, Harry Scales and Rev. E. J. Harrell of the Brooks Avenue Methodist church. Sheriff S. S. Fleming and Rev. Knickerbocker, who have become interested in the work, were unable to be present yesterday at the meeting.

Interest in Palace Grows; Wacoans and Visitors Boosting

Cotton Palace publicity headquarters are being besieged by the live wires of Waco, all anxious to make the 1913 exposition the greatest of all previous years. Publicity Director M. B. Davis states that Wacoans, who are traveling over the state in autos, are taking Cotton Palace literature and advertising matter into every city, town and hamlet, and even the cross-roads stores and farm houses are coming in for attention, with the result that every one will know about the big show.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Vick have gone to Pasadena, Cal., well supplied with Cotton Palace literature and novelties. It has been seven years since they were in Waco. They were surprised at the city's growth.
D. H. Smith is in Corsicana this week with a large lot of Cotton Palace stickers and posters, postal cards and pennants.

H. A. Hood leaves this morning for Houston and New Orleans, carrying a suitcase full of Cotton Palace matter. Mr. Hood will be gone a month or more and states that he will write in for more novelties when the present supply is exhausted.

WANTS CYCLE FOR WALK INSPECTOR

STREET DEPARTMENT NEEDS IT. FOSTER SAYS—MAYOR J. H. MACKEY DISAGREES.

CONSIDER SEVERAL PETITIONS

Would Extend Sewer—Will Execute Contract—Order Bills Paid.

Commissioner of Streets Foster wants a motorcycle for use of the sidewalk inspector of his department. He believes the demand for such an addition to the street department will justify the expense. Mr. Foster stated that the increase in the matter up at commission yesterday morning and although it did not meet with the favor of Mayor Mackey, the other commissioners did not express their opinion on the proposal.

Mr. Foster stated that the increase in the amount of work his department was doing, and the sidewalk work, together with the additional work that would be placed on his inspector by the passage of ordinances regulating placing poles and wires, necessitated the purchase of a motorcycle. Before the question was discussed Mayor Mackey stated that he believed the automobile department should be made to do the work. This ended the matter, although Commissioner Foster stated that he desired that the commission think over the matter.

A petition asking for the extension of the sewer twenty feet from the alley south of Herring avenue and to the alley north of Herring and up to the alley 260 feet was presented and referred to Commissioner Foster. It is said the extension will accommodate about six houses.

Application of A. M. Jacobs to string electric lights for decoration effect from North Sixth and Austin to the Cozy theatre was referred to Commissioner Dolins.

MACKEY ORDERS POLICE TO STOP TRAFFIC ORDINANCE VIOLATIONS

Cops to Be Instructed in Provisions That They May Recognize Infractions—Vehicle Owners Are Careless, Asserts City Executive.

The traffic ordinances of the city will be more rigidly enforced by the police follow instructions yesterday morning to Chief Hollis Barron. This was to the effect that all ordinances regulating traffic on the streets be enforced, and that the police be instructed in all ordinances that they may recognize a violation of the traffic ordinances.

Especially was the chief's attention called to the flagrant violation of the ordinance which requires vehicles in the downtown district to stand a certain distance from the curb.

The ordinance which prohibits the operation of a motor-driven machine in the city with the muffler cut out, and regulating the speed of vehicles, especially autos and motorcycles was called to their especial attention.

Mayor Mackey brought up the matter stating that the downtown streets were crowded with vehicles whose owners gave no thought to the law regulating the distance and the manner in which they are allowed to occupy the streets. He also called attention to the nuisance that is caused by the operation of automobiles with the mufflers open. Chief Barron, who was present, was instructed to take the matter up with his men, and instruct them to see that the ordinances are obeyed. He stated that the average policeman does not know when a muffler is open. The commission thought they had better have some schooling in the matter.

Police Commissioner Dolins and Chief Barron will take the matter up and work out the details.

STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED

Sheriff Makes Trip to Corpus Christi to Get Suit Case of Stuff.

Two months ago the store of H. C. Harder at Mart was burglarized. Ed Harden, aged 19, was arrested in Corpus Christi Wednesday and Robert Johnson, aged 17, was arrested at Mart Thursday evening. Both boys reside in Mart. Sheriff S. S. Fleming arrested Harden and Deputy Sheriff Charles Beckham arrested Johnson.

About one-half of the missing goods have been recovered.

Entrance was effected to the Harder store at Mart, a branch of the Waco store, on the night of June 26. Goods to the value of about $275 were taken. The burglars entered through the front door, cutting a circle in the glass and breaking the circle in with a blow from a hard object wrapped in a handkerchief. Three suitcases and a hand bag were filled with fine wear. The burglary, the fourth to occur at the same store, baffled the officers. Two suit cases partially filled with some of the stolen goods were recovered. Returning here Harden was placed in jail. On the following day the officers obtained information which resulted in a hasty telephone message to Deputy Beckham at Mart and the subsequent arrest of Robert Johnson. Johnson was brought to Waco Thursday night by Deputy Sheriff Morgan.

One of the missing suit cases was found in a house in East Waco.
